State Witness Takes Stand In Tate Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former member of Charles M. Manson's hippie-style "family" who is the state's star witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial will receive immunity from prosecution for his testimony this week, the prosecution says.

The witness, Linda Kasabian, 21, was indicted with Manson and three women followers whose trial resumes today.

She was expected to take the stand this afternoon. Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi said in his opening statement Friday Mrs. Kasabian would testify that Manson ordered some of his followers to shoot and stab the seven victims and write messages on the walls in their blood.

Before the trial recessed for the weekend prosecutors introduced the first three of more than 80 witnesses: Miss Tate's father, her estate caretaker and her maid.

Bugliosi said Manson ordered the killings of Miss Tate, a young actress, and six others on two nights last August to demonstrate how blacks might start a war to exterminate whites.

Bugliosi said Manson believed the victorious blacks would turn power over to him and his desert-dwelling band as the only surviving whites.

Modernized South Korean Army To Precede Cutbacks

SEOUL (AP) — The United States has agreed that the modernization of South Korea's armed forces will precede any withdrawal of American troops, Defense Minister Jung Naehiuk said today in a report on his meetings in Honolulu last week with Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard.

Jung told the National Assembly's foreign affairs and defense committees that Packard and his aides agreed to postpone talks on the U. S. troop cutback until the two governments agree on plans for the modernization of Korean forces.

Jung said Korean and American military leaders would meet in Seoul this week to discuss detailed programs to modernize South Koreans 600,000 man forces.

Jung denied reports that the United States intends to put into effect its plan to withdraw 20,000 of its 62,000-man force stationed in Korea with or without Korea's consent.

Has Pollution Doomed Fabled Lake Monster?

LONDON (AP) — Pollution is either killing the Loch Ness monster or has already done it, a British scientist said today.

The experts on the loch said his warning was nonsense. Douglas Drysdale of the British College of Naturopathy and Osteopathy told newsmen he analyzed samples from rivers and streams feeding into Loch Ness and found the pollution level so high it must reduce life in the lake in northern Scotland.

"I am a firm believer in the Loch Ness monster," said Drysdale, "but I don't think it could survive the level of pollution going into the loch."

A spokesman for the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau, which checks and records reported sightings of the hump-backed creature known as Nessie, said if pollution was all that bad, "why have the fish not died?"

He added that Nessie was reported sighted again Sunday night.

Eugene and Mary Virginia Griner Davis, who survive.

He was a member of the Circleville High School Class of 1971 and played football in junior high school and as a sophomore at CHS.

He was a member of Demolay and the Central Ohio Speological Society and was employed during the summer at Circleville Iron and Metal.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Stephanie Ann, of the home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle O'Dell, 805 S. Pickaway St.; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Weldon (Thelma) Smith, Tilton; numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

FUNERAL services will be 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Mader Funeral Home with the Rev. Richard Groff officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Monday.

The United States also agreed at Honolulu to provide the South Korean Air Force with a squadron of S2 reconnaissance planes shortly, he said.

In Washington, the Defense Department declined immediate comment on Jung's report.

Last Thursday, Pentagon officials said the United States had agreed to help stabilize the air defense of South Korea, but they indicated that would occur during a reduction in U. S. ground forces.

Meanwhile, American diplomatic officials in Seoul had said Thursday that "there is no change" in the plan for the partial troop withdrawal.

The Defense Department spokesman said that a number of U. S. Air Force units now stationed in Korea on short-term rotation would be supplanted with units assigned for longer terms. There was no mention of an actual increase in the number of U. S. warplanes in Korea.

Jordan's OK Of U.S. Plan Angers Youths

Thousands Stage Demonstrations In Arab Capital

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thousands of youths demonstrated in Amman today to protest acceptance by Jordan and Egypt of a U.S. plan for peace in the Middle East. Syria and Iraq stepped up attacks on the plan, indicating a deepening Arab rift on the issue.

The demonstrators in the Jordanian capital called President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt a coward. The youths appeared to be members of Arab guerrilla organizations and union members.

The Palestinian guerrillas also have assailed the U.S. proposal.

Jordan's acceptance of the plan on Sunday carried a reservation which said the government could not stop the actions of Palestinian guerrillas in continuing to attack inside Israel. The U.S. plan calls for a 99-day ceasefire.

In Algiers, the newspaper El Moudjahid, which usually reflects the views of the Algerian government, also rejected the plan.

The Jordanian cabinet agreed Sunday night to accept the U.S. ceasefire proposal to get Middle East peace negotiations moving again but with the reservation that it cannot stop the Palestinian guerrillas.

The Israeli cabinet postponed a decision on Washington's proposal after a six-hour meeting Sunday. The Jerusalem Post, which usually reflects the Israeli government's thinking, said the cabinet probably will give a "qualified affirmative reply" but will request "firm guarantees that the ceasefire will not be exploited."

The newspaper said Israel would insist on an indefinite ceasefire rather than the 99-day period U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers proposed for Egypt, Jordan and Israel. Members of the Israeli government contend that the Egyptians would use a limited ceasefire period to fortify missile sites and other military positions along the Suez Canal.

Sources in Jerusalem said President Nixon had assured Premier Golda Meir after Egypt accepted the plan that the United States would maintain a balance of power in the region.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser approved the proposal last week after the Soviet Union endorsed it. Syria rejected it Sunday as expected, and so

2 More Women Called In Coed Murder Trial

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The prosecution was expected to call two more women to the witness stand today to testify that they saw an 18-year-old coed ride off on a motorcycle with John Norman Collins the day she disappeared.

Collins, 23, is on trial for first-degree murder in the strangulation death of the Eastern Michigan University freshman, Karen Sue Beineken of Grand Rapids, who vanished July 23, 1969. Her nude sexually molested body was found three days later on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

Before the new witnesses take the stand, defense cross-examination resumed for Diana Joan Goshe, the owner of an Ypsilanti shop where Miss Beineken purchased a wig just before riding off on the motorcycle.

Mrs. Goshe testified before trial adjourned for the weekend that the youth driving the motorcycle was Collins.

Despite two hours of questioning by defense attorney Neil Fink, Mrs. Goshe stuck to her identification of Collins. She said her assistant at the shop, Patricia Spaulding, went outside with her to take a close look at the man on the motorcycle.

U.S. Makes New Approach To Limit Nuclear Missiles

By LAWRENCE L. KNOTSON Associate Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's bid to halt the arms race and a U. S. admiral's warning of growing Soviet naval power have refueled the heated Senate debate over the nation's defense budget.

The issue presently stems from the $19.2 military hardware bill that critics claim could be cut $5 billion without damaging national security.

Senate forces defending the $19.2 procurement bill for new ships, planes, tanks, missiles and the controversial Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system also may have been handed a telling argument by the commander in chief of the Soviet navy.

Debate resumed today in the Senate, only a few hours after it was disclosed the United States had asked the Soviet Union to join in a mutual limit on land and sea-based strategic nuclear missiles. The proposal would limit ABMs to approximately the same number now deployed around Moscow by the Soviet Union.

The Soviets have not replied to the American approach. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Sunday that any attempt to limit the $1.3 billion asked by the Pentagon for the Safeguard ABM system could "pull the rug" from under the U. S. bargaining team at the Vienna arms limitation talks.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he believes it no coincidence that the new U. S. approach at Vienna was revealed at the time the Senate debate on the ABM and other weapons systems was opening.

Last year, the decision to start ABM deployment was approved by only one vote. The issue before the Senate now is whether the Safeguard system, intended to protect the nation's offensive missiles, should be expanded to four sites.

In a related action, Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover said if the Soviet Union has not already surpassed the United States in total numbers of operational nuclear submarines, it can be expected to do so by the end of the year.

Rickover, in testimony given last March and released Sunday by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said Soviet missile-firing submarines are now stationed off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

He added the Soviet drive to forget a first rate naval force apparently is succeeding and that the American defense posture is deteriorating to the point where he has no confidence the United States would be victorious in an all-out war with the Soviet Union.

Rickover's grim portrayal was almost immediately matched by a boast from Soviet Adm. Sergei Gorskov who said his navy's nuclear submarines have "bound the hands of the imperialists" and can give "a crushing rebuff to any aggressor."

Nixon Slates Talks On Arms Costs, Economy

Secretary Laird Due To Discuss Pentagon Changes

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon set up two sessions with advisers today, one on cutting defense costs and another for an over-all look at the economy, following a weekend baseball outing.

Flying in to meet with Nixon were Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Deputy Secretary David Packard — to discuss a blue ribbon task force's recommendations on a probable Pentagon reorganization.

The President scheduled another session an hour later to confer with top domestic policy advisers on an "overview of the economy."

As a followup to discussion of expected Pentagon reorganization plans, Nixon will meet again Tuesday with Laird, Packard and his top budget-making officials for "preliminary discussions" on the defense budget for the 1972 fiscal year that begins next July 1.

On Sunday, Nixon left the womenfolk of the family at their oceanfront villa here and went by helicopter to sit through a baseball slugfest at Anaheim Stadium — home of the California Angels. After 11 innings and nearly four hours, the Angels nicked the Washington Senators 11-10.

Sitting with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Autry behind the Angels' dugout along the third base line, Nixon tossed balls to players and spectators at the outset. Then he settled down to keeping his own scorecard, until the marathon produced so many substitutes — 22 men got into each lineup, one short of an American League record — that he gave up.

Autry, the former cowboy movie star who is one of the major owners of the Angels, said the President told him he was "torn between the two teams but tried to remain neutral."

Salazar, Portugal Dictator, Is Dead

LISBON (AP) — Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, premier and dictator of Portugal for 36 years, died at his home in Lisbon today after a long illness.

He was 81 and Europe's longest surviving government chief in modern times.

The government secretary of information said Salazar died at 9:45 a.m.

President Americo Thomaz, the admiral Salazar elevated in 1958, was touring Portuguese provinces in Africa and was immediately notified of the death. He was expected to return to Lisbon immediately.

The bachelor premier suffered a stroke in September 1968

which left him partially paralyzed and forced his retirement. He developed a kidney infection 12 days ago, and since then his condition had steadily worsened.

A bashful dictator, Salazar loved power but shunned its trappings. Ruler of the world's last great Victorian-style overseas empire, he lived like an obscure clerk. Simplicity, frugality and austerity marked his personal life.

A shy, scholarly economist, he was rarely seen by his own people. In a nation of poverty, he paid himself $130 a week and spent his vacations in a one-story cottage in the village where he was born.

But from the day he took over as premier in 1932, he held Portugal and its African fiefs in an iron grip. Rebellions developed but did not prevail during his lifetime in the African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Guinea.

Efforts to stir his people to uprising came to naught.

Salazar's technique was paternal, sometimes even benevolent. But he controlled police and press and permitted token opposition for only 40 days before elections every four years. With a reputation for financial wizardry, Salazar kept Portugal's budget balanced when other European nations were deep in debt. But he did so at the expense of the workers, who are among the lowest paid, worst fed and most illiterate in Europe.

Yet Portugal's voters showed political unconcern and made no serious move to replace him. In 1966 Salazar declared the public revenue had increased 12-fold to $600 million, illiteracy in the school population had dropped to almost zero from 70 per cent and that production was up.

Bar Maid, GI Held As Booze Kills Toddler

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A bar maid and her Army sergeant boyfriend were jailed for investigation of murder after a coroner reported the woman's one-year-old son died of alcoholism, police say.

Myron L. Reynolds died July 10 of peritonitis and pleuritis caused by alcoholism, said coroner's investigator Jack Cale. Cale said the baby apparently had consumed alcoholic beverages regularly.

Carmelita Louise Reynolds, 21, and S. Sgt. Gary Wayne Rapp, 21, stationed at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, were booked Friday, authorities said.

Police Quiet Protesters In Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The chairman of a black militant party in Houston, Tex., was fatally shot and four other men wounded Sunday night during what police described as a gun battle between themselves and blacks.

Elsewhere Sunday police in Columbus, Ohio, scattered a crowd of some 350 young persons protesting what they called police repression; Cambridge, Mass. police dispersed about 250 youths setting fires near Harvard Square; and angry Puerto Rican residents in West Chester, Pa., clashed with police for a second successive night.

Houston police said the gunfire there erupted following a rally protesting the arrest of two blacks. A black spokesman said the two "weren't breaking any laws" but Police Chief H.G. Short said they were "walking down the street, one with a pistol, and one with a shotgun."

"We were shooting to kill," said police intelligence chief C.J. Norris. "They were shooting to kill me and I sure wasn't going to shoot for their legs. This isn't a cowboy movie where you shoot to wound them."

Dead was Carl Hampton, 21, chairman of the People's Party II. Police said they found a shotgun near where he fell with an abdominal wound. He died in a hospital several hours later.

Among the injured was Roy B. Haile, Jr., 24, a white, whom police said was associated with the militant Students for a Democratic Society. He was in poor condition at the hospital with abdominal wounds.

About 75 persons were arrested and police said they seized numerous weapons and Black Panther party literature in the party headquarters building where the rally took place.

Last Wednesday, black militant Ovid Duncantell told the Houston City Council that People's Party II had "secured" an area around its headquarters and "will fight until we're all dead" to keep police out.

Chief Short said today "the law will be enforced (there) . . . or anywhere and everywhere else that needs it. There is no place in this city where a policeman cannot go."

Duncantell said the two originally arrested "weren't breaking any laws. This is the way the pigs react to this kind of situation. This ain't the end of it. They ambushed a brother. We don't know what will happen to Houston."

In Columbus, Ohio police used a new type of scatter gun early Sunday to end what some police described as "a six minute

Thousands of youths demonstrated in Amman today to protest acceptance by Jordan and Egypt of a U.S. plan for peace in the Middle East. Syria and Iraq stepped up attacks on the plan, indicating a deepening Arab rift on the issue.

The demonstrators in the Jordanian capital called President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt a coward. The youths appeared to be members of Arab guerrilla organizations and union members.

The Palestinian guerrillas also have assailed the U.S. proposal.

Jordan's acceptance of the plan on Sunday carried a reservation which said the government could not stop the actions of Palestinian guerrillas in continuing to attack inside Israel. The U.S. plan calls for a 99 day cease-fire.

In Algiers, the newspaper El Moudjahid, which usually reflects the views of the Algerian government, also rejected the plan.

The Jordanian cabinet agreed Sunday night to accept the U.S. cease-fire proposal to get Middle East peace negotiations moving again but with the reservation that it cannot stop the Palestinian guerrillas.

The Israeli cabinet postponed a decision on Washington's proposal after a six-hour meeting Sunday. 2 More Women Called In Coed Murder Trial

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The prosecution was expected to call two more women to the witness stand today to testify that they saw an 18-year-old coed ride off on a motorcycle with John Norman Collins the day she disappeared.

U.S. Makes New Approach To Limit Nuclear Missiles

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associate Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's bid to halt the arms race and a U. S. admiral's warning of growing Soviet naval power have refueled the heated Senate debate over the nation's defense budget.

The issue presently stems from the $19.2 military hardware bill that critics claim could be cut $5 billion without damaging national security.

Senate forces defending the $19.2 procurement bill for new ships, planes, tanks, missiles and the controversial Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system may have been handed a telling argument by the commander in chief of the Soviet navy.

Debate resumed today in the Senate, only a few hours after it was disclosed the United States had asked the Soviet Union to join in a mutual limit on land and sea-based strategic nuclear missiles. The proposal would limit ABMs to approximately the same number now deployed around Moscow by the Soviet Union.

The Soviets have not replied to the American approach, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Sunday that any attempt to limit the $1.3 billion asked by the Pentagon for the Safeguard ABM system could "pull the rug" from under the U. S. bargaining team at the Vienna arms limitation talks.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he believes it no coincidence that the new U. S. approach at Vienna was revealed at the time the Senate debate on the ABM and other weapons systems was opening.

Last year, the decision to start ABM deployment was approved by only one vote. The issue before the Senate now is whether the Safeguard system, intended to protect the nation's offensive missiles, should be expanded to four sites.

In a related action, Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover said if the Soviet Union has not already surpassed the United States in total numbers of operational nuclear submarines, it can be expected to do so by the end of the year.

Rickover, in testimony given last March and released Sunday by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said Soviet missile-firing submarines are now stationed off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

He added the Soviet drive to forget a first rate naval force apparently is succeeding and that the American defense posture is deteriorating to the point where he has no confidence the United States would be victorious in an all-out war with the Soviet Union.

Rickover's grim portrayal was almost immediately matched by a boast from Soviet Adm. Sergei Gorskov who said his navy's nuclear submarines have "bound the hands of the imperialists" and can give "a crushing rebuff to any aggressor."

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon set up two sessions with advisers today, one on cutting defense costs and another for an overall look at the economy, following a weekend baseball outing.

Flying in to meet with Nixon were Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Deputy Secretary David Packard — to discuss a blue ribbon task force's recommendations on a probable Pentagon reorganization.

The President scheduled another session an hour later to confer with top domestic policy advisers on an "overview of the economy."

As a followup to discussion of expected Pentagon reorganization plans, Nixon will meet again Tuesday with Laird, Packard and his top budget-making officials for "preliminary discussions" on the defense budget for the 1972 fiscal year that begins next July 1.

On Sunday, Nixon left the womenfolk of the family at their oceanfront villa here and went by helicopter to sit through a baseball slugfest at Anaheim Stadium — home of the California Angels. After 11 innings and nearly four hours, the Angels nicked the Washington Senators 11-10.

Sitting with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Autry behind the Angels' dugout along the third base line, Nixon tossed balls to players and spectators at the outset. Then he settled down to keeping his own scorecard, until the marathon produced so many substitutes — 22 men got into each lineup, one short of an American League record — that he gave up.

Autry, the former cowboy movie star who is one of the major owners of the Angels, said the President told him he was "torn between the two teams but tried to remain neutral."

Showers Dunk Midwest Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sticky, humid and hot weather hung over the East and South early today while thundershowers drenched an area from the Midwest to the central Rockies.

Scattered thundershowers dotted the Ohio River Valley and through the South.

Clear skies dominated the rest of the nation. Early morning temperature extremes varied from 32 at Quiklayute, Wash., to 94 at Blythe, Calif.

Salazar, Portugal Dictator, Is Dead

LISBON (AP) — Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, premier and dictator of Portugal for 36 years, died at his home in Lisbon today after a long illness. He was 81 and Europe's longest surviving government chief in modern times.

The government secretary of information said Salazar died at 9:45 a.m.

President Americo Thomaz, the admiral Salazar elevated in 1958, was touring Portuguese provinces in Africa and was immediately notified of the death. He was expected to return to Lisbon immediately.

The bachelor premier suffered a stroke in September 1968

which left him partially paralyzed and forced his retirement. He developed a kidney infection 12 days ago, and since then his condition had steadily worsened.

A bashful dictator, Salazar loved power but shunned its trappings. Ruler of the world's last great Victorian-style overseas empire, he lived like an obscure clerk. Simplicity, frugality and austerity marked his personal life.

A shy, scholarly economist, he was rarely seen by his own people. In a nation of poverty, he paid himself $130 a week and spent his vacations in a one-story cottage in the village where he was born.

But from the day he took over as premier in 1932, he held Portugal and its African fiefs in an iron grip. Rebellions developed but did not prevail during his lifetime in the African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Guinea.

Efforts to stir his people to uprising came to naught.

Salazar's technique was paternal, sometimes even benevolent. But he controlled police and press and permitted token opposition for only 40 days before elections every four years. With a reputation for financial wizardry, Salazar kept Portugal's budget balanced when other European nations were deep in debt. But he did so at the expense of the workers, who are among the lowest paid, worst fed and most illiterate in Europe.

Yet Portugal's voters showed political unconcern and made no serious move to replace him. In 1966 Salazar declared the public revenue had increased 12-fold to $600 million, literacy in the school population had dropped to almost zero from 70 per cent and that production was up.

Bar Maid, GI

Kills Toddler

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A bar maid and her Army sergeant boyfriend were jailed for investigation of murder after a coroner reported the woman's one-year-old son died of alcoholism, police say.

Myron L. Reynolds died July 10 of peritonitis and pleuritis caused by alcoholism, said coroner's investigator Jack Cale. Cale said the baby apparently had consumed alcoholic beverages regularly.

Carmelita Louise Reynolds, 21, and S. Sgt. Gary Wayne Rapp, 21, stationed at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, were booked Friday, authorities said.

Police Quiet Protesters In Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The chairman of a black militant party in Houston, Tex., was fatally shot and four other men wounded Sunday night during what police described as a gun battle between themselves and blacks.

Elsewhere Sunday police in Columbus, Ohio, scattered a crowd of some 350 young persons protesting what they called police repression; Cambridge, Mass. police dispersed about 250 youths setting fires near Harvard Square; and angry Puerto Rican residents in West Chester, Pa., clashed with police for a second successive night.

Houston police said the gunfire there erupted following a rally protesting the arrest of two blacks. A black spokesman said the two "weren't breaking any laws" but Police Chief H.G. Short said they were "walking down the street, one with a pistol, and one with a shotgun."

"We were shooting to kill," said police intelligence chief C.J. Norris. "They were shooting to kill me and I sure wasn't going to shoot for their legs. This isn't a cowboy movie where you shoot to wound them."

Dead was Carl Hampton, 21, chairman of the People's Party II. Police said they found a shotgun near where he fell with an abdominal wound. He died in a hospital several hours later.

Among the injured was Roy B. Haile, Jr., 24, a white, whom police said was associated with the militant Students for a Democratic Society. He was in poor condition at the hospital with abdominal wounds.

About 75 persons were arrested and police said they seized numerous weapons and Black Panther party literature in the party headquarters building where the rally took place.

Last Wednesday, black militant Ovid Duncantell told the Houston City Council that People's Party II had "secured" an area around its headquarters and "will fight until we're all dead" to keep police out.

Chief Short said today "the law will be enforced (there) ... or anywhere and everywhere else that needs it. There is no place in this city where a policeman cannot go."

Duncantell said the two originally arrested "weren't breaking any laws. This is the way the pigs react to this kind of situation. This ain't the end of it. ... They ambushed a brother. We don't know what will happen to Houston."

In Columbus, Ohio police used a new type of scatter gun early Sunday to end what some police described as "a six minute (Continued on Page 12)

Kennedy Freed From Probation

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has ended his year of probation for leaving the scene of the Mary Jo Kopechne accident.

Kennedy, 38, was released from probation Saturday.

The probation, and a two month suspended sentence, was given Kennedy last July 25 following the death of Miss Kopechne, 28, a Washington secretary. Miss Kopechne drowned when Kennedy's car plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island.

Kennedy, whose driver's license was suspended during the probationary period, now is eligible to reapply. If he chooses to do so, he must pass an oral examination, eye test and road test.

Stocks Slow, Off Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices meandered downward in slow trading today.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was behind 1.72 at 728.50, the low thus far for the session. The high occurred near the session's start when the blue-chip indicator was ahead 0.13.

Analysts said the sluggish volume reflected investor anxiety over second - quarter earnings and the state of the economy in general.

Despite an early encouraging trend in second-quarter earnings reports, the pattern now appears to be lower. A preliminary survey, for example, indicates that corporate profits declined by 5 1/2 per cent in the second quarter, equaling the first-quarter decline.

Signs of less encouraging earnings reports were blamed in part by analysts for the stalling of the market's rally last week, when the Dow industrial average lost 4.86 points.

Winning issues on the New York Stock Exchange led losers by a slender margin. The gainers had led decliners by nearly 2 to 1 early in the session.

Military Accepting Unfit Registrants, Report Shows

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard S. Schweiker today called for improved military physical examinations after a government report disclosed the armed services continue to accept men who are physically unfit to serve.

Some men recently inducted were found to have only one kidney, deformed by polio or missing part of a thumb, the Pennsylvania Republican said in releasing a report by the General Accounting Office.

He called on the Pentagon to improve its screening procedures to weed out men physically unfit to serve before induction.

Nearly 40,000 servicemen who were discharged in fiscal 1968 and 1969 within a year of their enlistments were released because of prior physical defects, Schweiker said.

Among the cases, the report said, were those of an Air Force man with a large scar from a kidney removal operation, a Marine released when it was found he had only part of his left thumb, an Air Force man discharged for an absence of muscles on the left side of his trunk, and a man whose childhood bout with polio had left him with his left leg more than one inch shorter than his right.

The Pentagon spent $17.9 million for pay, travel, allowance, and uniforms in fiscal 1969 alone, for men discharged for such prior defects, the report said.

New $4.5 Million Memorial Hospital Opens At Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The new $4.5 million O'Blenness Memorial Hospital opened here this morning as 32 patients were transferred from the city's old hospital.

The new 125-bed hospital took two years to build. It is more than twice the size of the old Sheltering Arms Hospital. Both buildings are owned by the Sheltering Arms Hospital Foundation.

Charles O'Blenness, a former Athens banker, left $1 million in his estate for the hospital. Federal Hill-Burton funds provided another $1 million, and the remainder of the cost is being paid by community donations.

The old hospital has been closed and its future is uncertain.

Education Money Measure Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year spending controversy between the White House and Congress is likely to flare again Tuesday when the Senate considers a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill.

The measure was to have come up today, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, in a last-minute switch, put it off for a day.

Your Wonderful Heart

Your heart, a most magnificent structure, is under the intelligent control of the brain and nervous system. In an emergency, if the nervous system is normal, it can increase its output of blood 1000%. Your heart pumps blood through 60,000 miles of blood vessels. Under normal conditions it beats 100,000 times daily as it ejects 4,300 gallons of blood to keep every cell in the body supplied with nutrition and oxygen. The rate and force of the heart beat and circulation of blood through the coronary arteries within the heart is dependent upon the ability of the nervous system to supply the heart with normal nerve energy from the brain. Dr. Jose M. R. Delgado, a Yale University medical researcher, reports: "We're finding it is the brain which controls blood pressure, hypertension, heart beat, heart rhythm and EKG activity."

Dr. Delgado's statement brings little surprise. For a period of many years chiropractic has maintained that subluxations of spinal vertebrae interfere with the action of nerves between the brain and the heart resulting in many heart and blood vessel disorders.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board says the economy will "resume its growth very shortly, if it is not already doing it now" and that further inflation will not occur "if we proceed cautiously."

Inflation is "in the process of unwinding," Burns said Sunday. "We're just about on the right track."

He spoke on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was asked today to approve a bill aimed at preventing any more "dead seas" like that created in New York Harbor by dumped wastes.

"There can be no argument, reasonable argument, to disavow prompt government action in responding to the environmental emergency that exists," Rep. Joh M. Murphy, D-N.Y., said in testimony for the House conservation subcommittee.

Murphy introduced his bill after New Jersey's Sandy Hook laboratory found in an interim report that dumping of sewage sludge and dredge soil in New York Harbor had created areas of several miles square where marine life was "severely impoverished."

The bill would provide for a study to find areas where wastes can be disposed of safely, and would prohibit dumping them anywhere else in the nation's rivers, harbors, lakes and coastal areas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has agreed to study whether perishable foods should be dated for consumer as well as grocer.

Manufacturers already put coded dates on their products so the storekeeper will know if the food is too old.

Manufacturers generally are opposed to uncoded dates on grounds that consumers would choose the freshest products, leaving the older ones to rot. And that would boost costs, they say.

But Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., says the grocers sometimes ignore the coded dates and leave unsafe food on the shelf.

Some states and localities already require that perishable foods carry uncoded dates. Advocates say the consumer has the right to know, and that such items as drugs and camera film have been dated for years with no complaints.

Probate Judge Asks For More Help, Copier

Pickaway County Probate Judge Guy Cline met with commissioners today to discuss purchase of a microfilm copier for the court.

The judge noted the court had accumulated a large backlog of cases and said the copier would help speed up the work of the clerical staff.

Commissioner Charles Morris expressed the opinion that more clerical help would be of greater benefit to the court than the copier.

He asked Judge Cline how many more clerks would be needed to keep the court docket current and also suggested the judge make a formal request in writing for the additional help.

Judge Cline said the court would need at least two additional clerks. He said he had verbally asked for more help in the past.

In addition to Morris, Commissioner Wayne Hines was present at this morning's session.

Three Policemen Injured In Fray

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Three Cleveland policemen and an auxiliary policeman were injured Sunday night as they tried to stop a fight between marchers in the United Hard Hats of America parade and hecklers.

The brief fray occurred as about 20 so-called "hard hats" were marching "in support of America" from the city's West Side to the downtown Mall.

All four were treated at hospitals and released.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

8 Injured, 3 Cited In 4 Accidents

Eight people were injured and three cited in four separate accidents in Pickaway County Sunday and early Monday.

Willard N. JayJohn, 30, Lockbourne was cited by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy John Bost for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated at 1 a.m. Monday on Route 188 near Ringgold.

JayJohn had struck several objects before coming to rest against the median strip. He suffered head and neck injuries and was treated at Berger Hospital.

Deputy Bill Dountz cited Dick Huffer, 20, Route 4, for reckless operation when his auto left the road at 5:55 p.m. Sunday and struck a fence on the Warner-Huffer Road in Washington Township.

HUFFER had cuts on the forehead and leg and a passenger, Kathy Keaton, 17, 330 John St., suffered back injuries in the mishap. Both were taken to Berger Hospital.

Diane E. Gaines, 24, Columbus, suffered neck injuries and passengers, Kenneth Gaines, 7, abrasions of the forehead and Tammy Gaines, 8, a cut lip when the Gaines vehicle struck the rear of a car driven by Connie Sue Carter, 29, Columbus, who injured her neck in the accident. All were referred to the doctor for treatment.

Deputy Bill Dountz cited Diane Gaines for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead when she struck the rear of the Carter auto at 4:25 p.m. Sunday at the Circleville Route 22 entrance to Route 23.

Peter McDaniel, 16, 405 Wood Lane, suffered a cut nose at 12:25 a.m. Sunday when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and hit a fence on Route 56 in Washington Township. The driver, Walter R. Gilmore, 16, 624 S. Court was not injured in the mishap.

Deputy Don Thompson investigated the accident.

legislative districts . . . And for this reason alone there is need for concern . . .

Federal giveaway programs are usually based on the number of persons in the area on the receiving end of the funds . . . State Issue I monies for bottleneck elimination are also distributed on a per capita basis . . .

And the reason elected officials of Pickaway County are primarily concerned is the salary difference . . .

The preliminary count for the county was a little under 40,000 . . . That is one of the population levels where the salary automatically increases . . .

The county treasurer will receive $8,160 if the count remains under 40,000 . . . He will get $9,240 if it is over . . . The sheriff will receive $7,580 on the low side of the count and $8,880 on the high side . . .

The clerk of courts salary will jump over $1,000 from $8,100 to $9,120 . . . The recorder's salary will jump from $7,560 to $8,400 . . . Commissioners' salaries will jump from $5,460 to $6,250 . . . The auditor's salary will go from $7,380 to $8,520, an increase of nearly $1,200 . . .

And the county engineer will receive a "fabulous" increase of $10, from $13,728 to $13,738.

Stocks Slow, Off Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices meandered downward in slow trading today.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was behind 1.72 at 728.50, the low thus far for the session. The high occurred near the session's start when the blue-chip indicator was ahead 0.13.

Analysts said the sluggish volume reflected investor anxiety over second - quarter earnings and the state of the economy in general.

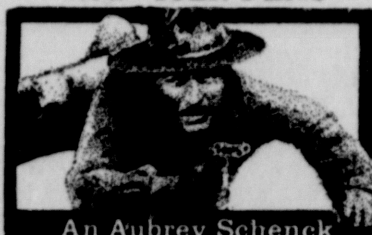

Despite an early encouraging trend in second-quarter earnings reports, the pattern now appears to be lower. A preliminary survey, for example, indicates that corporate profits declined by 5 1/2 per cent in the second quarter, equaling the first-quarter decline.

Signs of less encouraging earnings reports were blamed in part by analysts for the stalling of the market's rally last week, when the Dow industrial average lost 4.86 points.

Winning issues on the New York Stock Exchange led losers by a slender margin. The gainers had led decliners by nearly 2 to 1 early in the session.

Military Accepting Unfit Registrants, Report Shows

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard S. Schweiker today called for improved military physical examinations after a government report disclosed the armed services continue to accept men who are physically unfit to serve.

Some men recently inducted were found to have only one kidney, deformed by polio or missing part of a thumb, the Pennsylvania Republican said in releasing a report by the General Accounting Office.

He called on the Pentagon to improve its screening procedures to weed out men physically unfit to serve before induction.

Nearly 40,000 servicemen who were discharged in fiscal 1968 and 1969 within a year of their enlistments were released because of prior physical defects, Schweiker said.

Among the cases, the report said, were those of an Air Force man with a large scar from a kidney removal operation, a Marine released when it was found he had only part of his left thumb, an Air Force man discharged for an absence of muscles on the left side of his trunk, and a man whose childhood bout with polio had left him with his left leg more than one inch shorter than his right.

The Pentagon spent $17.9 million for pay, travel, allowance, and uniforms in fiscal 1969 alone for men discharged for such prior defects, the report said.

New $4.5 Million Memorial Hospital Opens At Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The new $4.5 million O'Brien Memorial Hospital opened here this morning as 32 patients were transferred from the city's old hospital.

The new 125-bed hospital took two years to build. It is more than twice the size of the old Shelters Arms Hospital. Both buildings are owned by the Shelters Arms Hospital Foundation.

Charles O'Brien, a former Athens banker, left $1 million in his estate for the hospital. Federal Hill-Burton funds provided another $1 million, and the remainder of the cost is being paid by community donations.

The old hospital has been closed and its future is uncertain.

Education Money Measure Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year spending controversy between the White House and Congress is likely to flare again Tuesday when the Senate considers a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill.

The measure was to have come up today, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, in a last-minute switch, put it off for a day.

Don Stevenson told the tallest tale during a liars contest held at a recent Toastmasters Club meeting.

The contest was held as a part of the regular table topics session of the meeting.

Your Wonderful Heart

Your heart, a most magnificent structure, is under the intelligent control of the brain and nervous system. In an emergency, if the nervous system is normal, it can increase its output of blood 1000%. Your heart pumps blood through 60,000 miles of blood vessels. Under normal conditions it beats 100,000 times daily as it ejects 4,300 gallons of blood to keep every cell in the body supplied with nutrition and oxygen. The rate and force of the heart beat and circulation of blood through the coronary arteries within the heart is dependent upon the ability of the nervous system to supply the heart with normal nerve energy from the brain. Dr. Jose M. R. Delgado, a Yale University medical researcher, reports: "We're finding it is the brain which controls blood pressure, hypertension, heart beat, heart rhythm and EKG activity."

Dr. Delgado's statement brings little surprise. For a period of many years chiropractic has maintained that subluxations of spinal vertebrae interfere with the action of nerves between the brain and the heart resulting in many heart and blood vessel disorders.

Presented in the public interest for better health through chiropractic by the Circleville Chiropractic Center under the auspices of the Central Ohio Chiropractic Association.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board says the economy will "resume its growth very shortly, if it is not already doing it now" and that further inflation will not occur "if we proceed cautiously."

Inflation is "in the process of unwinding," Burns said Sunday. "We're just about on the right track."

He spoke on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was asked today to approve a bill aimed at preventing any more "dead seas" like that created in New York Harbor by dumped wastes.

"There can be no argument, reasonable argument, to dissuade prompt government action in responding to the environmental emergency that exists," Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., said in testimony for the House conservation subcommittee.

Murphy introduced his bill after New Jersey's Sandy Hook laboratory found in an interim report that dumping of sewage sludge and dredge soil in New York Harbor had created areas of several miles square where marine life was "severely impoverished."

The bill would provide for a study to find areas where wastes can be disposed of safely, and would prohibit dumping them anywhere else in the nation's rivers, harbors, lakes and coastal areas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has agreed to study whether perishable foods should be dated for consumer as well as grocer.

Manufacturers already put coded dates on their products so the storekeeper will know if the food is too old.

Manufacturers generally are opposed to uncoded dates on grounds that consumers would choose the freshest products, leaving the older ones to rot. And that would boost costs, they say.

But Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., says the grocers sometimes ignore the coded dates and leave unsafe food on the shelf.

Some states and localities already require that perishable foods carry uncoded dates. Advocates say the consumer has the right to know, and that such items as drugs and camera film have been dated for years with no complaints.

Probate Judge Asks For More Help, Copier

Pickaway County Probate Judge Guy Cline met with commissioners today to discuss purchase of a microfilm copier for the court.

The judge noted the court had accumulated a large backlog of cases and said the copier would help speed up the work of the clerical staff.

Commissioner Charles Morris expressed the opinion that more clerical help would be of greater benefit to the court than the copier.

He asked Judge Cline how many more clerks would be needed to keep the court docket current and also suggested the judge make a formal request in writing for the additional help.

Judge Cline said the court would need at least two additional clerks. He said he had verbally asked for more help in the past.

In addition to Morris, Commissioner Wayne Hines was present at this morning's session.

Three Policemen Injured In Fray

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Three Cleveland policemen and an auxiliary policeman were injured Sunday night as they tried to stop a fight between marchers in the United Hard Hats of America parade and hecklers.

The brief fray occurred as about 20 so-called "hard hats" were marching "in support of America" from the city's West Side to the downtown Mall.

All four were treated at hospitals and released.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

8 Injured, 3 Cited In 4 Accidents

Eight people were injured and three cited in four separate accidents in Pickaway County Sunday and early Monday.

Willard N. JayJohn, 30, Lockbourne was cited by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy John Bost for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated at 1 a.m. Monday on Route 188 near Ringgold.

JayJohn had struck several objects before coming to rest against the median strip. He suffered head and neck injuries and was treated at Berger Hospital.

Deputy Bill Dountz cited Dick Huffer, 20, Route 4, for reckless operation when his auto left the road at 5:55 p.m. Sunday and struck a fence on the Warner-Huffer Road in Washington Township.

HUFFER had cuts on the forehead and leg and a passenger, Kathy Keaton, 17, 330 John St., suffered back injuries in the mishap. Both were taken to Berger Hospital.

Diane E. Gaines, 24, Columbus, suffered neck injuries and passengers, Kenneth Gaines, 7, abrasions of the forehead and Tammy Gaines, 8, a cut lip when the Gaines vehicle struck the rear of a car driven by Connie Sue Carter, 29, Columbus, who injured her neck in the accident. All were referred to the doctor for treatment.

Deputy Bill Dountz cited Diane Gaines for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead when she struck the rear of the Carter auto at 4:25 p.m. Sunday at the Circleville Route 22 entrance to Route 23.

Peter McDaniel, 16, 405 Wood Lane, suffered a cut nose at 12:25 a.m. Sunday when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and hit a fence on Route 56 in Washington Township. The driver, Walter R. Gilmore, 16, 624 S. Court was not injured in the mishap.

Deputy Don Thompson investigated the accident.

Sabina Pilot Crash-Lands On Street In Brecksville

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A single-engine aircraft strayed off course Sunday and crash landed on a Brecksville street after running out of fuel. The pilot and a passenger were injured.

The plane skidded to a stop less than six feet from the front of a home, police said. No other injuries were reported.

The pilot, Donald E. Muner, 37, of Sabina, and his passenger, Charles Hart of Xenia suffered head and facial injuries. They were treated at Parma Community Hospital.

Hospital officials said Sunday that Hart was released and Muner probably would remain at the hospital or be transferred to an Air Force hospital in Wilmington.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q — I've heard that more than 20 million people have the protection of Medicare. How many of them are being helped by it?

A — More than 4 million people were admitted to hospitals last year and had most of their bills paid by Medicare. About 500,000 of them were admitted to "extended care facilities" for post-hospital skilled nursing care. About 290,000 received home health services after a hospital stay. In 1969, Medicare paid an estimated $4.7 billion in hospital insurance benefits and $1.9 billion in medical insurance benefits.

Q — If I decide to work for another year or two beyond my 65th birthday must I wait until I stop work to be eligible for Medicare coverage?

A — No. You become eligible for Medicare as soon as you become 65, whether you're retired or still working.

But to make sure your full Medicare protection begins the month you reach 65, you should check with your social security office two or three months before your 65th birthday.

Q — What is the reason for the recent increase in Medicare premiums?

A — Experience now shows that the rate should have gone up to about $4.70 in July, 1969.

and since then the program has had to draw on its reserves. About half of the recent increase is needed to finance the insurance program as it is now working. The rest of the increase is to cover higher costs in the 1970-1971 premium period.

Q — How much are Medicare premiums now?

A — The basic premium rate is now $5.30 a month, and this was effective beginning July 1, 1970. This, of course, effects only the medical insurance part of Medicare, as there is no premium for hospital insurance.

Cleveland's Safety Chief Will Resign

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Safety Director Benjamin O. Davis Jr. is going to resign from his city position to take a job with Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said in today's editions.

The newspaper said it learned that Davis was to submit his resignation to Mayor Carl Stokes today.

Neither Davis nor Stokes could be reached for comment Sunday.

The Plain Dealer said Davis, a retired lieutenant general in the Air Force, revealed his plans to close associates at a party Saturday night.

The newspaper said Cleveland City Hall sources have indicated that relations between Stokes and Davis have not been too cordial lately and that there has been some friction over Davis' support of a police raid on a Black Panther headquarters last month.

The Plain Dealer said some persons who attended the party but who did not want to be quoted reported that Davis' resignation would be effective Sept. 1.

Police Chief Lewis Coffey, who also attended the party, said Davis had not mentioned resigning to him, the newspaper continued.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A single-engine aircraft strayed off course Sunday and crash landed on a Brecksville street after running out of fuel. The pilot and a passenger were injured.

The plane skidded to a stop less than six feet from the front of a home, police said. No other injuries were reported.

The pilot, Donald E. Muner, 37, of Sabina, and his passenger, Charles Hart of Xenia suffered head and facial injuries. They were treated at Parma Community Hospital.

Hospital officials said Sunday that Hart was released and Muner probably would remain at the hospital or be transferred to an Air Force hospital in Wilmington.

Winding for 1,770 miles through West Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania and bordering Bulgaria and the Soviet Ukraine, the Danube is Europe's second-longest river, exceeded only by the Volga.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q I've heard that more than 20 million people have the protection of Medicare. How many of them are being helped by it?

A — More than 4 million people were admitted to hospitals last year and had most of their bills paid by Medicare. About 500,000 of them were admitted to "extended care facilities" for post-hospital skilled nursing care. About 290,000 received home health services after a hospital stay. In 1969, Medicare paid an estimated $4.7 billion in hospital insurance benefits and $1.9 billion in medical insurance benefits.

Q If I decide to work for another year or two beyond my 65th birthday must I wait until I stop work to be eligible for Medicare coverage?

A — No. You become eligible for Medicare as soon as you become 65, whether you're retired or still working.

But to make sure your full Medicare protection begins the month you reach 65, you should check with your social security office two or three months before your 65th birthday.

Q — What is the reason for the recent increase in Medicare premiums?

A — Experience now shows that the rate should have gone up to about $4.70 in July, 1969, and since then the program has had to draw on its reserves. About half of the recent increase is needed to finance the insurance program as it is now working. The rest of the increase is to cover higher costs in the 1970-1971 premium period.

Q — How much are Medicare premiums now?

A — The basic premium rate is now $5.30 a month, and this was effective beginning July 1, 1970. This, of course, effects only the medical insurance part of Medicare, as there is no premium for hospital insurance.

Cleveland's Safety Chief Will Resign

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Safety Director Benjamin O. Davis Jr. is going to resign from his city position to take a job with Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said in today's editions.

The newspaper said it learned that Davis was to submit his resignation to Mayor Carl Stokes today.

Neither Davis nor Stokes could be reached for comment Sunday.

The Plain Dealer said Davis, a retired lieutenant general in the Air Force, revealed his plans to close associates at a party Saturday night.

The newspaper said Cleveland City Hall sources have indicated that relations between Stokes and Davis have not been too cordial lately and that there has been some friction over Davis' support of a police raid on a Black Panther headquarters last month.

The Plain Dealer said some persons who attended the party but who did not want to be quoted reported that Davis' resignation would be effective Sept. 1.

Police Chief Lewis Coffey, who also attended the party, said Davis had not mentioned resigning to him, the newspaper continued.

A Concentrated Approach

Concern for the environment has been a secondary consideration to some primary activity. That is why today nine agencies for the federal government have at least 62 separate programs involved in the fight against environmental pollution.

The Atomic Energy Commission has been concerned with water pollution caused by its reactors; the Agriculture Dept. worries about pesticide pollution of the soil and streams; the Interior Dept. has a number of programs concerned with the whole spectrum of air, land and water pollution.

It is time to bring these activities together under one roof so there is less confusion and more coordination in accomplishing the needed clean-up job. The administration has asked Congress to approve an Environmental Protection Agency to absorb all the existing programs under one authority.

Even before it is established, the EPA is receiving flak from some of the agencies which would lose responsibilities to it. This is a mild example of the pressures which will be brought to bear on a concentrated environmental program by conservationists, consumer advocates and a number of other special interests should the agency be established.

That is a small price to pay for removing duplication, conflicting guidelines and jealousy between other government bodies primarily entrusted with non-connected activities.

How To Chisel

Although the Navy has denied a congressman's charge that it used federal funds to advise corporations with foreign subsidiaries on how to take advantage of tax loopholes, that alleged situation does lend itself to interesting possibilities.

Suppose the Internal Revenue Service were to pick a half dozen of its top agents and assign them the duty of advising taxpayers of every tax loophole they knew about, and otherwise tutoring them on ways of keeping their taxes at the lowest possible level.

There could be several consequences. A number of taxpayers would faint, but after the initial shock there would be a flurry of activity in Congress, the tax courts and elsewhere to close the loopholes and close them fast. Which is the whole point.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans spend $400 million annually for headache cures. Maybe the best way to cut down the cost is to quit trying to pass on to others the headache someone else gives to us.

Here are some statistics that the Women's Liberation Movement might ponder:

Just by clicking the switches in her home, the average American housewife controls about 65 horsepower. If you figure it takes 22 men to put out the equal of one horse's energy, that means she has 1,430 men at her beck and call at any time. If that doesn't satisfy a woman, what really could?

Why you should wear a car seat belt: Studies show that if you don't, you are 100 per cent more likely to suffer severe injury or death. You are also 40 per cent more likely to be a victim of a minor injury.

Being America's First Lady probably isn't as much fun today as it was during Dolly Madison's White House reign early in the 19th century. A young and merry widow when she married James Madison, she used snuff, wore jeweled turbans, and liked to throw dinner parties and play cards for money. She was still so popular in 1844, some 27 years after Madison's term as president ended, that the House of Representatives gallantly and unanimously paid her the unprecedented tribute of voting her a seat in the House.

Quotable notables: "If education is for anything it is that we learn to choose the good." — Edward Dean Martin.

Valuable: Collectors are avidly seeking old bottles now as well as old coins. These colorful glass souvenirs of America's past have fetched up to $950 at auctions, the National Geographic Society says. A whisky flask put out in 1840 and shaped like a log cabin is worth $150 or more today. It carried the product of Philadelphia distiller E. G. Booz, so popular it became a slang term for hard liquor.

Odd claims to fame: Lester B. Dill, owner of the Meramec Caverns in Missouri, has visited 100,000 caves all over the world. He says he has never met a cave he didn't like.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A GENTLEMAN in the Social Register had a bit of advice for his son, just graduated from Princeton. "My boy," he said, "you will have to attend innumerable, endless dinners, now that you'll be stepping out into your life as a leader of the right people. Time and again you will find yourself growing bored to death even before the salad is served. You must steel yourself against this!"

There's precious little point in being a first-rate professional magician these days, to hear Mary Erlove tell it. The best of them depend for a living on industrial shows or private parties. Best received act of the month was performed for an automobile show. The magician waved his wand over an empty box—and the sales manager popped out of the box to give an inspired sales talk.

Possibly what hurts the veteran conjurors most is that the kids no longer regard them with the awe they once did. A six-year-old girl asked one to pull a rabbit out of his hat, and when he told her he had no rabbit, she bit him in the thigh.

There's an enterprising old coddler in Atlantic City who makes a pretty penny by being an habitu . He stands by a scale on the boardwalk chanting to passersby, "Habitu  168, habitu  184 . . ."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm just plain jealous and itchy, too. My wife and I can sit in the same room and every mosquito within a radius of two blocks pays a personal call on me and doesn't even bow in respect to her. What has she got that I haven't got?

Mr. E.E.M., Louisiana Dear Mr. M.: On the contrary your popularity with mosquitoes is based entirely on an extra something that you have and your wife has not.

Some chemicals manufactured by the body have a distinct attraction for biting insects. Volatile oils, perfumes, lotions and perspiration also appeal to discriminating mosquitoes.

Some mosquitoes boycott special manufacturers because the myrrh, incense and ambergris are not to their special liking.

Since you know of this special devotion that mosquitoes have for you, you can guard against giving them blood transfusions by applying some of the very effective chemicals and sprays available that are safe for humans and can break up this love affair.

Unless you protect yourself in this way I suppose you will just have to continue to be itchy and jealous.

Can flatfeet be corrected?

Mr. F.P., Tennessee Dear Mr. P.: Flatfoot is known technically as "pes planus," and is an anatomical flattening or depression of the long arch of the foot.

Almost always, it is due to some interference with the development of the bony structure or the ligaments of the foot. It is not unusual for flatfeet to occur in a number of people in a family.

One of the avoidable causes of this condition is correct fitting of shoes and proper orthopedic attention early in life.

When there is any tendency towards flatfeet and it is recognized early, proper shoes with supporting devices may prevent the condition from getting worse, even though the structural defects cannot be changed.

Flatfeet can be responsible for a great deal of fatigue and unusual tiredness. Extension of pain to the muscles of the entire leg may accompany this disorder.

There are some arch supports and simple exercises which can relieve some of the discomforting symptoms.

Will Oil Save Our Necks?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Foreign Minister of Ruritania, who always takes the long view even at the risk of being misbranded as a cynic, was discussing Soviet policy.

"It's ten to one," he said, "that the background page in your Sunday newspaper will contain think-pieces saying (a) that Moscow would like to bring Hanoi to the peace table but can't do it because of the nasty Red Chinese, (b) that a calm-down in the Middle East is in the works because neither of the two great atomic super-powers really wants a nuclear confrontation, and (c) that the Russians are rather sorry for the Czechoslovakian affair and would like to make amends for it by helping West Germany's Willy Brandt deliver something tangible on his Ostpolitik."

"Of course, the hard news that comes with Monday morning's paper invariably smears custard pie over the faces of the Sunday think-piece artists. The story of the 100-pound rockets that hit Saigon discloses that the explosives were made in Russia. The latest communique from the diplomatic front in Washington of Sam-Il missiles to the Suez Canal front, and even to Syria, and there is the further disclosure that the U.S. is really sending Phantom Jets and electronic radar-jamming gear to Israel."

"As for the feeling that there is a permanent cool-off in east central Europe that favors Willy Brandt, it must somehow be accommodated to the news that Yugoslavia and Red China have suddenly become cozy, an obvious indication that Tito and Mao are huddling together for warmth precisely because they fear Brezhnev means business about telling other socialist countries what to do."

"However," said the Foreign Minister of Ruritania with an impish look in his eye, "I now find myself feeling that the optimistic think-piece writers have something going for them. They don't realize why they might very possibly turn out to be right, and I wouldn't even give them a low D for their ability to link cause and effect. But it could be that the foreign policy line which the Soviets have been following for years is about to be struck a mortal blow from a totally unsuspected source."

"Years ago," the Foreign Minister continued, "I listened to your Whittaker Chambers, who predicted that all Soviet moves of the Fifties and Sixties would be predicated on the necessity of closing in on Western Europe from the Mediterranean South. Chambers kept pointing to Suez, to the oil fields of the Arabian countries, and to Algeria and Morocco. And, of course, he was 100 per cent correct in his fears. The Russians have kept the U.S. off balance by forcing it to stay in South Vietnam. Meanwhile they have been putting the squeeze on Israel. Eventually they expect to get control of the Arab oil fields all the way from Libya to the Persian Gulf. When and if this happens, they will tell Western Europe what to do if it wants to live through the winter without freezing."

"This," said the Foreign Minister, "has been the grand design. A pity you didn't see it when Chambers saw it. But now, just as the Russians have reason to think victory is in their grasp, it could all turn sour."

"I refer, of course, to the most recent news about oil strikes in the North Sea. Not too long ago Phillips Petroleum announced that its oil find in the middle of the North Sea would add more than seven billion barrels to the world's reserve supply. And now comes a story that Standard Oil has made a big strike off the Norwegian coast. There is a third potentially big entry in the North Sea oil stakes: the Tenneco company has found oil near the Dutch coast."

"So Western Europe may be off the hook of dependency on Arab oil, just as the U.S. could be free of Arab blackmail if it would only get busy about exploiting its twenty-billion barrel Alaskan North Slope find. You Westerners continue to have the luck that Bismarck once said belonged to drunks, fools, and the United States of America. You both your foreign policy, your think-piece journalists have never learned how to put two and two together, and you let the Marxists fool you into thinking they represent 'world opinion.' But then you strike oil in Alaska and the North Sea, and all of Moscow's carefully laid bets are off. Your knowledge of history is nil, but your technology is superb — and we in Ruritania, who have to live between the giants, thank God that your oil geologists are far, far better than your statesmen."

BARBER WINS BY A WHISKER — John Diakopoulos, using a straight-edge razor, shaves Boone County Sheriff Bud Elkin in 48 seconds to win the annual Friends Fest contest in Rocheport, Mo. The shaving competition is held in memory of Hugo Dietrich, winner of the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair title as best barber. One of Pickaway County's oldest clothing store, Parrett's, announced they were going out of business after 75 years.

"A Mile of Death", a story published in the January Reader's Digest concerning Pickaway County traffic fatalities, was recognized internationally.

Reported by Curtis Dumm who at one time operated a filling station at Gold Cliff Park, the story referred to the county's most hazardous stretch

The story was to be reprinted in 12 of the company's international editions.

Two of N and W's passenger train runs through Circleville were discontinued. Mail service provided by the trains was to be supplemented by a truck star route.

Dear Editor:
While roaming around Europe we have learned to beware of two things — the water and the men. Italy was no exception, but it did have its good points: the colossal coliseum, the tremendous Trivoli Gardens, the evening silence of Saint Peters, the remains of the Roman Forum, the saintly Sistine Chapel, the three wishes of the Trevi Fountain, and the captivating Isle of Capri.

After Italy we went moving on to Greece. This is the first country where they really served us "their" food — egg plant and lamb.

While in Greece we celebrated my birthday. It was one of the most exciting birthdays I've ever spent.

We went sightseeing and believe me all the sights were ruined — the Acropolis, the Parthenon, and Hadrian's Arch. Then we began our 2 day cruise on the Aegean Sea. We sailed to the islands of Hydra, Delos, and Mykonas aboard the S.S. Romantica.

Next we will be going to our Greek Homestays.

In closing I'd like to say —

Europe is a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there!

Dear Editor:
"Never to go to war with one another again" seemed a sincere cry in our recent history. Sincerity by those who chanted this seems worthless now, for numerous wars, disguised by semantics, have occurred. Why should we accept every invitation to a war given?

We must stop now, and build up our own country to the greatness it once represented; which, was respected across the world. I say it is time to 'clean our own closets out': ecology, deprived minorities, hunger, inflation, the recession, etc.

The lesson we learn from this will enable us to more competently help others settle their differences without the destruction of property and inane killing. Awake, fellow Americans, before we deplete our resources needlessly or have another civil war, for then it will be too late.

A GENTLEMAN in the Social Register had a bit of advice for his son, just graduated from Princeton. "My boy," he said, "you will have to attend innumerable, endless dinners, now that you'll be stepping out into your life as a leader of the right people. Time and again you will find yourself growing bored to death even before the salad is served. You must steel yourself against this!"

There's precious little point in being a first-rate professional magician these days, to hear Mary Bralove tell it. The best of them depend for a living on industrial shows or private parties. Best received act of the month was performed for an automobile show. The magician waved his wand over an empty box—and the sales manager popped out of the box to give an inspired sales talk.

Possibly what hurts the veteran conjurors most is that the kids no longer regard them with the awe they once did. A six-year-old girl asked one to pull a rabbit out of his hat, and when he told her he had no rabbit, she bit him in the thigh.

There's an enterprising old coddler in Atlantic City who makes a pretty penny by being an habitué. He stands by a scale on the boardwalk chanting to passersby, "Habitué 168, habitué 184 . . ."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm just plain jealous and itchy, too. My wife and I can sit in the same room and every mosquito within a radius of two blocks pays a personal call on me and doesn't even bow in respect to her. What has she got that I haven't got?

Mr. E.E.M., Louisiana
Dear Mr. M.: On the contrary your popularity with mosquitoes is based entirely on an extra something that you have and your wife has not.

Some chemicals manufactured by the body have a distinct attraction for biting insects. Volatile oils, perfumes, lotions and perspiration also appeal to discriminating mosquitoes.

Some mosquitoes boycott special manufacturers because the myrrh, incense and ambergris are not to their special liking.

Since you know of this special devotion that mosquitoes have for you, you can guard against giving them blood transfusions by applying some of the very effective chemicals and sprays available that are safe for humans and can break up this love affair.

Unless you protect yourself in this way I suppose you will just have to continue to be itchy and jealous.

Can flatfeet be corrected?
Mr. F.P., Tennessee
Dear Mr. P.: Flatfoot is known technically as "pes planus," and is an anatomical flattening or depression of the long arch of the foot.

Almost always, it is due to some interference with the development of the bony structure or the ligaments of the foot. It is not unusual for flatfeet to occur in a number of people in a family.

One of the avoidable causes of this condition is correct fitting of shoes and proper orthopedic attention early in life.

When there is any tendency towards flatfeet and it is recognized early, proper shoes with supporting devices may prevent the condition from getting worse, even though the structural defects cannot be changed.

Flatfeet can be responsible for a great deal of fatigue and unusual tiredness. Extension of pain to the muscles of the entire leg may accompany this disorder.

There are some arch supports and simple exercises which can relieve some of the discomforting symptoms. Good, well-fitting shoes are a prerequisite for the needed support.

The best way to avoid mental distress over possible burglars is a professional survey to check on locks and other protective devices.

Will Oil Save Our Necks?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Foreign Minister of Ruritania, who always takes the long view even at the risk of being misbranded as a cynic, was discussing Soviet policy.

"It's ten to one," he said, "that the background page in your Sunday newspaper will contain think-pieces saying (a) that Moscow would like to bring Hanoi to the peace table but can't do it because of the nasty Red Chinese, (b) that a calm-down in the Middle East is in the works because neither of the two great atomic superpowers really wants a nuclear confrontation, and (c) that the Russians are rather sorry for the Czechoslovakian affair and would like to make amends for it by helping West Germany's Willy Brandt deliver something tangible on his Ostpolitik."

"Of course, the hard news that comes with Monday morning's paper invariably smears custard pie over the faces of the Sunday think-piece artists. The story of the 100-pound rockets that hit Saigon discloses that the explosives were made in Russia. The latest communique from the diplomatic front in Washington of Sam-Il missiles to the Suez Canal front, and even to Syria, and there is the further disclosure that the U.S. is really sending Phantom Jets and electronic radar-jamming gear to Israel."

"As for the feeling that there is a permanent cool-off in east central Europe that favors Willy Brandt, it must somehow be accommodated to the news that Yugoslavia and Red China have suddenly become cozy, an obvious indication that Tito and Mao are huddling together for warmth precisely because they fear Brezhnev means business about telling other socialist countries what to do."

"However," said the Foreign Minister of Ruritania with an impish look in his eye, "I now find myself feeling that the optimistic think-piece writers have something going for them. They don't realize why they might very possibly turn out to be right, and I wouldn't even give them a low D for their ability to link cause and effect. But it could be that the foreign policy line which the Soviets have been following for years is about to be struck a mortal blow from a totally unsuspected source."

"Years ago," the Foreign Minister continued, "I listened to your Whittaker Chambers, who predicted that all Soviet moves of the Fifties and Sixties would be predicated on the necessity of closing in on Western Europe from the Mediterranean South, Chambers kept pointing to Suez, to the oil fields of the Arabian countries, and to Algeria and Morocco. And, of course, he was 100 per cent correct in his fears. The Russians have kept the U.S. off balance by forcing it to stay in South Vietnam. Meanwhile they have been putting the squeeze on Israel. Eventually they expect to get control of the Arab oil fields all the way from Libya to the Persian Gulf. When and if this happens, they will tell Western Europe what to do if it wants to live through the winter without freezing.

"This," said the Foreign Minister, "has been the grand design. A pity you didn't see it when Chambers saw it. But now, just as the Russians have reason to think victory is in their grasp, it could all turn sour."

"I refer, of course, to the most recent news about oil strikes in the North Sea. Not too long ago Phillips Petroleum announced that its oil find in the middle of the North Sea would add more than seven billion barrels to the world's reserve supply. And now comes a story that Standard Oil has made a big strike off the Norwegian coast. There is a third potentially big entry in the North Sea oil stakes: the Tenneco company has found oil near the Dutch coast.

"So Western Europe may be off the hook of dependency on Arab oil, just as the U.S. could be free of Arab blackmail if it would only get busy about exploiting its twenty-billion barrel Alaskan North Slope find. You Westerners continue to have the luck that Bismarck once said belonged to drunks, fools, and the United States of America. You botch your foreign policy, your think-piece journalists have never learned how to put two and two together, and you let the Marxists fool you into thinking they represent 'world opinion.' But then you strike oil in Alaska and the North Sea, and all of Moscow's carefully laid bets are off. Your knowledge of history is nil, but your technology is superb — and we in Ruritania, who have to live between the giants, thank God that your oil geologists are far, far better than your statesmen."

Lebanon Abounds In History
Of Southwestern Ohio

EDITOR'S NOTE: One of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by The Columbus Auto Club for The Herald.

A beautifully restored 19th century mansion, an inn that catered to U.S. presidents and a well preserved pre-historic Indian fort are highlights of the area in and near Lebanon in southwestern Ohio.

And for variety, a tour can include a stop at scenic Cowan Lake State Park, which has facilities for all types of outdoor activity, or a visit to Fairmeade Farm, where trotters and pacers are bred. Both are south of Wilmington and within 15 miles of Lebanon.

Among the palatial homes of wealthy Ohioans, Glendower is among the finest open to the public. Built in 1836 and occupied over 100 years by influential families, the 13-room mansion is an outstanding example of Greek Revival architecture.

It is furnished with items from more than 400 pioneer families, most of which were produced by area craftsmen, and is open 9:30 to 5, except Monday. Admission charge.

The Warren County Museum has unique displays arranged in windows and shelves of storefronts surrounding a reconstructed village scene and includes a Shaker exhibit and a prehistoric geological collection. Open 9 to 4, except Monday.

Admission charge.

Lebanon was on the route of stagecoach runs, and a stopping place was the famed Golden Lamb Inn, still a good hotel but more popular as a restaurant. Ten presidents, from William Henry Harrison to William Howard Taft and other dignitaries such as Charles Dickens and Henry Clay, have been Inn guests. Rooms are furnished with antiques.

Between Sept. 10-12, Lebanon streets will be busy with the annual Honey Festival, featuring honey and a variety of by-products, as well as entertainment and other events.

Seven miles east of Lebanon is Fort Ancient State Memorial, site of a Hopewell Indian (300 B.C. - 600 A.D.) defense and ceremonial area. Within its 100 acres are burial mounds, stone grave cemeteries and the remains of village sites.

A new museum has exhibits and models of the Hopewell culture, including the ceremonial life and rituals. Also on display are effigy pipes, ornaments, knives and pottery, as well as a model of Fort Ancient Village showing life as it might have been. Museum hours are 9:30 to 5, except Monday; admission charge. The grounds are open during daylight and are free, including picnic facilities.

The AAA club suggests this routing to the tour area: From Circleville go west on US 42 to the tour area.

OSU Coed Shot Fatally
In Robbery At Apartment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio State University coed, wounded by an armed robber in her apartment early Sunday, died late Sunday night in University Hospital, police reported.

Susan Ada Clark, 23, a graduate student in journalism from Fairfield, Iowa, was shot in her East 13th Ave. apartment shortly after 5 a.m. Sunday, police reported.

A Columbus man, Ronald Hooper, 21, told police he was with Miss Clark when the armed bandit entered her apartment.

Hooper said there was a knock at the door, and when Miss Clark opened it, with the night latch still hooked, the bandit forced his way in.

The man took $20 from Hooper's wallet, it was reported. Hooper said he struggled with the robber and the gun fired "a couple of times."

The gun fell to the floor, Hooper said, but the robber picked it up and ordered Hooper into the hall, and then told him to go outside into an alley.

Hooper told police he ran, but saw the intruder fire two shots into the apartment as he fled.

Hooper said he ran downstairs and called police then went back to Miss Clark's apartment where he found her wounded.

'A Community That Cared'

Chillicothe Saves An Industry

By LARRY HEINERLING
Associated Press Writer

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — The story of "a community that cared and worked together." That's how the Chillicothe Gazette described the overcoming of an economic crisis that threatened this city of 26,900, Ohio's first capital.

The crisis developed in May when the city's second biggest employer, Wear-Ever Aluminum Inc., said it would close because its operations had become uneconomical.

The potential severity of this loss of 850 jobs was increased later when the largest employer announced an 800-man cutback.

Chillicothe fought back with public appeals and a newspaper campaign. It led to the involvement of Gov. James A. Rhodes. An intra-union dispute and the forfeiture of a pay hike and benefit increases by Wear-Ever's employees.

Now it looks like Wear-Ever will stay.

"It showed an unusual community effort," said Robert Schaefer, president and publisher of the Gazette.

"Community leaders stepped in when the thing was dead. A community somewhat complacent about industrial growth became alert to its problems," said Schaefer, who worked publicly and privately to save the plant.

But it almost didn't come off. When Wear-Ever, a subsidiary of Aluminum Co. of America said it would shut down unless its employees agreed to forego the increases due them under their contract, the union refused at first to negotiate the matter.

Wear-Ever President John S. Hamilton said the 70 acre plant, which makes aluminum cooking utensils, was suffering financially because of the 1968 contract with Local 110 of the Aluminum Workers International Union, AFL-CIO.

Hamilton said Wear-Ever was running at least $1 an hour more in wages and benefits than its competitors, who do not necessarily use aluminum, and did not have to meet the nationwide aluminum workers pay scale.

As a result, he said, "We had to seek certain adjustments in wages to make us more competitive or not be able to continue in business."

At issue was a pay raise and fringe benefits increase adding about 15 cents an hour to employees, paychecks. The hikes would cost the firm about $500,000.

After finally agreeing to negotiate, the 450-member local rejected the company's proposal May 28 by a vote of 384-2.

The city in the southern Ohio farmlands, where Ohio's Constitution was signed on a whiskey barrelhead, braced for the shock.

The county auditor estimated public schools serving more than 6,000 pupils would lose up to $180,000 annually in property taxes.

A shut down would hit retailers hard. If their sales dropped because 850 customers were forced to find jobs elsewhere, their inventories would also be cut, and the base on which they paid property taxes would be reduced.

In a published plea to the union to negotiate, the Chillicothe Ministerial Association said the unemployed representing about 10 per cent of the town's labor force, "will either be present as unemployed in the community or must find employment elsewhere. The result in our community in either event would be tragic."

Then, the second shoe dropped. Mead Papers Division of the Mead Corp., the city's oldest and largest employer, said it would lay off some 800 of its 4,000 workers by Sept. 1 in an economy move.

City leaders increased their efforts to save Wear-Ever. In an effort to break the deadlock, Schaefer privately called Gov. Rhodes for help.

Rhodes contacted the union's international headquarters at St. Louis and apparently won their support to keep the plant open.

On June 8 the company and the local, with an international representative on hand, announced a new proposal to save the firm. But, despite recommendations by the local's ex-

Miss Diana Lynn Seymour Weds Gregory Fraunfelter

MRS. GREGORY E. FRAUNFELTER

Miss Diana Lynn Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Seymour, Route 1, Laurelville, and Mr. Gregory E. Fraunfelter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fraunfelter, Route 4, were united in marriage 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 25. Rev. James Sager assisted by Rev. Michael Wright, performed the double ring ceremony in the Colerain Church.

Mr. Carl Thompson, organist and Scott Wilson, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selections preceding the marriage.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding a formal length gown of white chiffon in a dressmaker style. The bodice featured a round collar and cuffs of the full length sleeves fashioned in white satin. Her cathedral length bouffant veil of illusion was caught to a tiara of flowers. She carried an arrangement of white and yellow daisies and tangerine can-roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Deborah Smith of Dayton. She was attired in a floor length gown of orange crepe trimmed with matching braid attached to the empire fitted bodice. Her headpiece was formed of orange ribbons. Bridesmaids were Miss Kay Poling and Miss Debbie Payne. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Extra Pedal Provided For No-Shift Cars

LONDON (AP) — At last, British motorists have a gadget dedicated to absolutely nothing except keeping their left feet from feeling bored and unneeded.

Stork Shower

Fetes Mrs.

Robert Bower

Mrs. Robert L. Bower was guest of honor at a stork shower held recently in the home of Mrs. John Kelchner, 310 Lewis Road. A baby buggy decorated with green and yellow set the theme.

Contests were conducted and won by Mrs. Ramon Shupe and Mrs. Robert E. Bower. A dessert course was served by the hostess.

The guest list included Mrs. Harold Bartholomew, Mrs. Robert E. Bower, Mrs. Paul Andrews, Mrs. Aaron Harper, Mrs. Emmer Baldwin, Mrs. Jay Hunter, Mrs. Ramon Shupe, Mrs. Howard Hunter, Mrs. Eldon DeLong, Mrs. Donald Bower, Mrs. Hank Bartholomew and Mrs. Raymond Perry. Gifts were sent by Mrs. William Bresler and Mrs. Wayne Bower.

JUST RELAXING — A few of the picnickers take a few moments to relax during the Saturday afternoon event for employees of The Herald and their families.

Saltcreek Valley Is Site Of Herald Employees Picnic

Saltcreek Valley was invaded by employees of The Herald and their families for a picnic Saturday afternoon. Hosting the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Jones, Route 4.

The large pond was well used by fishers and swimmers alike at the Jones farm. The picnic itself was held about a half mile from the pond through the woods to an open field with a shelterhouse and barbeque pit. Laugh provoking contests were held with young and not so young participating. Jerry McGaffney arranged and conducted that part of the afternoon.

Serving as chief cooks at the grill were Leon Sims and Tom Purcell while Steve Jones presided over the corn cooking kettle.

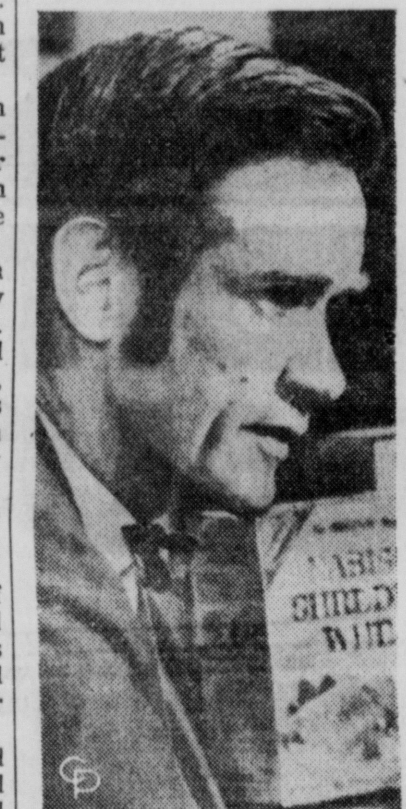

Attending the festivities were Mrs. Sarah Winner, Miss Eloise Hanley, Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, Mary Anne and Richard; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purcell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Davis and Kyle, Miss Jeanne Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Sines, Rod and Tim; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willoughby and Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Miss Diana Lynn Seymour Weds Gregory Fraunfelter

MRS. GREGORY E. FRAUNFELTER

Miss Diana Lynn Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Seymour, Route 1, Laurelville, and Mr. Gregory E. Fraunfelter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fraunfelter, Route 4, were united in marriage 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 25. Rev. James Sager assisted by Rev. Michael Wright, performed the double ring ceremony in the Colerain Church.

Mr. Carl Thompson, organist and Scott Wilson, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selections preceding the marriage.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding a formal length gown of white chiffon in a dressmaker style. The bodice featured a round collar and cuffs of the full length sleeves fashioned in white satin. Her cathedral length bouffant veil of illusion was caught to a tiara of flowers. She carried an arrangement of white and yellow daisies and tangerine can-can roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Deborah Smith of Dayton. She was attired in a floor length gown of orange crepe trimmed with matching braid attached to the empire fitted bodice. Her headpiece was formed of orange ribbons. Bridesmaids were Miss Kay Poling and Miss Debbie Payne. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor

Extra Pedal Provided For No-Shift Cars

LONDON (AP) — At last, British motorists have a gadget dedicated to absolutely nothing except keeping their left feet from feeling bored and unneeded.

British Royalty Lays Claim To Kinship With Washington

By MIKE SPOONER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Some British cousins of George Washington are expected to be here for a visit on Thursday, July 16, at the same time that Prince Charles and his sister, Princess Anne, are welcomed to the White House.

Things won't get too crowded, however. For Washington's distant cousins and Britain's royal offspring are one and the same!

That's right. The prince and princess are cousins of the American general who led the Revolutionary Army against their ancestors, King George III.

To be more precise, Prince Charles and his sister Anne are second cousins of George Washington, eight times removed. This makes them some of the closest living relatives of our first president. In addition, they're also related to another great American general, Confederate leader Robert E. Lee, to whom they are fifth cousins, six times removed.

It's rather involved genealogically, of course. But looking at the royal family tree, it seems that our British visitors — who will be here three days — are related to Washington through an early American settler named Augustine Warner.

Warner lived in Virginia in the 1690s, and had two daughters, Mildred and Mary. Mildred Warner became the grandmother of George ROYALTY — Princess Anne and Prince Charles, English royalty, at the White House July 15. The children of Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Philip are distant cousins of George Washington, first president of the United States.

Washington. Mary married a man name Smith and had a daughter, also named Mildred. This Mildred became the wife of a man name Porteus, who moved his family back to Britain.

There, Mildred Porteus had a granddaughter, who was married to a man named Hodgson. The Hodgsons had a granddaughter who married an Oswald Smith of Blendon Hall, Kent.

The Smiths' grandson became the 14th Earl of Strathmore. This earl was the father of the present Queen Mother of England and the great-grandfather of Prince Charles and Princess Anne!

Incidentally, the Strathmores also are related by marriage to the Churchill family, recently made famous by Sir Winston Spencer Churchill. During the 1600s, about the same time Augustine Warner was planting the roots of this involved family tree, the Spencers married into another family of British bluebloods named, then, the Wessingtons.

These Wessingtons had leased a whole English village and manor house from the bishop of Durham some five centuries before. By Revolutionary times, their name had changed to Washington — and the forebears of our George Washington had long since left the motherland and emigrated to America.

At the Washington's ancestral home in Britain — Sulgrave Manor — may still be seen this family's coat of arms which contains a shield, stripes and five-pointed stars. Some say it was the basis of our American flag.

A baseball game, cruise down

the Potomac, a gala dinner-dance... These are among the activities planned for Charles and Anne when they visit here. Perhaps, like their mother, Queen Elizabeth II, they may also be invited to become members of Revolutionary War patriotic organizations like the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, for example.

According to the rules of such organizations, a member must have had a distinguished ancestor who took part in American affairs before the Battle of Bunker Hill. Augustine Warner would seem to qualify the prince and princess. And there's also General Washington himself, their distant cousin who took rather an important part in American affairs — though he was on the "other" side!

POLITICS WILL OUT—Kathy Huppe (above) resigned her "Miss Montana" title for the "Miss America" beauty pageant because she would not go along with the contest policy of steering clear of politics. Kathy, 18, of Helena, is an outspoken anti-war adherent.

Penn Central's Woes Seen Affecting Other Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the Penn Central reorganized under the Bankruptcy Act, the Department of Transportation told Congress such a move could lead to a government subsidy or takeover of some of the nation's railroads.

Undersecretary James M. Beggs also testified "the likelihood is that the whole rail transportation system in this country would suffer very severely" and the ability of other railroads to obtain needed financing could be severely impaired.

Beggs gave this testimony to a House Appropriations subcommittee June 11, when the administration was planning a Defense Department guarantee of some $200 million bank loans to Penn Central.

The guarantee plan was dropped June 19 in the face of strong congressional opposition. The railroad then went ahead with the reorganization against which Beggs had warned.

The transcript of his testimony

Death Claims Michael Kirwan

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—Longtime Congressman Michael Joseph Kirwan, an 83-year-old Democrat of Youngstown, Ohio, died early today at Bethesda naval Hospital.

Kirwan had been hospitalized since suffering a broken back at the Washington apartment more than a year ago. Aides said his death, at about 12:45 a.m., was attributable to several complications.

His wife, Alice, was at his side.

Kirwan had been a member of the House of Representatives since 1936, and had risen to No. 2 man on the Appropriations Committee. He was chairman of the Public Works Subcommittee.

He also had been chairman of the House Democratic Campaign Committee since 1947, a period in which Republicans managed only once to capture majority control.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Kirwan moved in 1907 to Youngstown where he became a mercantile businessman and, from 1932-36, a member of the City Council.

He was a veteran of World War I, having served as a sergeant in a machine gun company.

He had three children, John, Michael and Mary.

Negro Leader Issues Call For 'Segregation'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland black nationalist leader, Harlel Jones, says blacks should segregate themselves from whites and that blacks don't want the "Black Panthers to tell us how to run our revolution."

Jones, who also calls himself Harlel X, told some 300 blacks at a day-long memorial program for black nationalists killed in the 1968 Glenville area shootout between police and blacks that they should "stay away from whites."

"If you're black, you don't need whites," Jones said.

ny was made public today.

"If you throw the railroad into reorganization, the likelihood is that there is no way... of reorganizing this railroad and bringing it back to financial health," Beggs said.

"The longer it stays in a reorganization, I think the more the likelihood that some form of government aid, some government subsidy and eventually perhaps nationalization, would be the result."

He said he thought the railroad could be brought back to health with good management if it could obtain needed loans.

He also said management would lose its effectiveness during the period of reorganization. Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board commented Sunday that he was not only opposed to nationalization of railroads but viewed some of the present government controls as "simply stupid."

Meanwhile Sunday, a New York auditor said that a Fortune magazine article critical of the Penn Central Co.'s accounting practices was "shockingly in error."

"The references to accounting practices and to Peat, Marwick, Mitchell Co. are utterly wrong," said Walter E. Hanson, senior partner of the firm.

The Fortune article, in the August issue distributed Sunday, said that "unique" bookkeeping enabled Penn Central to disguise the true state of its affairs before the railroad filed for reorganization under bankruptcy laws.

Domestic Workers Protected By Social Security

"Don't forget your domestic worker," urged Harry B. Bieber, Manager of the Social Security Office in Chillicothe. "She too needs social security protection against such things as disability, death or retirement."

In the last few years, the law has been liberalized. In the area of disability, for example, it's now possible for a younger person to get disability with as little as one and one-half years of work under social security. It would be unfair to deprive a domestic worker of this protection.

"By domestic worker," Mr. Bieber continued, "we mean maids, cooks, cleaning women; as well as gardeners, handymen, etc. who perform work in or about a private home. If an employer pays the worker more than $50 cash wages in a calendar quarter, then he or she must deduct a certain amount from wages for social security tax and must pay a like amount. This year the rate is 4.8 per cent of total wages. This percentage must be paid by both the employer and the employee, making a total of 9.6 per cent to be remitted by the employer for social security tax."

Mr. Bieber added, "There are special forms for reporting. We have a pamphlet, SSI-21, entitled 'Social Security and Your Household Employee' which explains all about these forms and how you report these earnings for social security. If anyone wishes to have this pamphlet, or has any questions about this, or any other phase of social security, they should contact the nearest social security office."

The office serving this area is located at 606 Central Center in Chillicothe, phone 775-4950. The office is open from 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., Monday through Friday, holidays excepted.

Metal Workers End Long Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sheet Metal Workers Local 65 has voted to accept a new contract and return to work, ending a three-month strike.

The local is the first of three striking building trades unions in Cleveland to reach a contract agreement. Contracts for the Sheet Metal Workers Union, Plumbers Local 55 and Pipefitters Local 120 expired April 30.

Strikes by the three unions have halted an estimated $900 million in Cleveland area construction.

Bonn, Moscow Open Talks On Nonaggression

MOSCOW (AP) — The West German and Soviet foreign ministers began talks in Moscow today to complete a nonaggression pact the Bonn government hopes will open the way to better relations with Eastern Europe.

West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are trying to conclude an agreement in which West Germany and the Soviet Union renounce the use of force against each other and West Germany accepts the postwar loss of German territory to Poland and the Soviet Union. But in an attempt to appease the political opposition at home, Scheel brought along amendments he wants to attach to the treaty emphasizing Bonn's aims of German reunification and improved access to West Berlin.

Scheel arrived Sunday from Bonn and called on Gromyko at his office this morning. A West German source said Scheel planned to present his amendments at this first meeting but that Gromyko was not expected to respond until a later session.

The meeting lasted just over an hour. Scheel told newsmen the meeting had been "good" and its atmosphere "cooperative, very cooperative."

He and Gromyko scheduled another meeting in the afternoon.

Socialist Chancellor Willy Brandt's conservative opposition, the Christian Democrats, have been charging that the proposed treaty's recognition of Germany's postwar eastern borders gives away the government's chief bargaining point without getting enough in return. But an article Sunday in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, indicated a chilly reception for the amendments. Scheel worked up to counter the Christian Democratic argument.

Shame, Shame!

THIBODAUX, La. (AP) — This small community prides itself on its warmth and ready friendship to strangers, but two Gibson, La., men took things a bit too far.

Police arrested Richard Tucker and Aubrey Dupre and accused them of stealing the welcome mat from the police station.

Murder Suspect Arrested In Fairfield County

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A first-degree murder suspect arrested by Fairfield County sheriff's deputies Saturday has been returned to Cleveland and placed in the Cuyahoga County Jail.

Chales W. Wolfe, 31, of Cleveland, was returned to the city Sunday from Lancaster.

Wolfe and three other persons were indicted here for the March 16 slaying of Charles L. Oates, 35, of Cleveland. Oates had been beaten with an iron bar and shot, authorities said.

Oates' wife, Oma, 49, was among those indicted. All are in Cuyahoga County Jail awaiting trial.

Police said Mrs. Oates had her husband beaten because she believed he had been dating other women.

The Smiths' grandson became the 14th Earl of Strathmore. This earl was the father of the present Queen Mother of England and the great-grandfather of Prince Charles and Princess Anne!

Incidentally, the Strathmores also are related by marriage to the Churchill family, recently famed by Sir Winston Spencer Churchill. During the 1600s, about the same time Augustine Warner was planting the roots of this involved family tree, the Spencers married into another family of British bluebloods named, then, the Wessingtons.

These Wessingtons had leased a whole English village and manor house from the bishop of Durham some five centuries before. By Revolutionary times, their name had changed to Washington — and the forebears of our George Washington had long since left the motherland and emigrated to America.

At the Washingtons' ancestral home in Britain — Sulgrave Manor — may still be seen this family's coat of arms which contains a shield, stripes and five-pointed stars. Some say it was the basis of our American flag.

A baseball game, cruise down

the Potomac, a gala dinner-dance... These are among the activities planned for Charles and Anne when they visit here. Perhaps, like their mother, Queen Elizabeth II, they may also be invited to become members of Revolutionary War patriotic organizations like the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, for example.

According to the rules of such organizations, a member must have had a distinguished ancestor who took part in American affairs before the Battle of Bunker Hill. Augustine Warner would seem to qualify the prince and princess. And there's also General Washington himself, their distant cousin who took rather an important part in American affairs — though he was on the "other" side!

Penn Central's Woes Seen Affecting Other Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the Penn Central reorganized under the Bankruptcy Act, the Department of Transportation told Congress such a move could lead to a government subsidy or takeover of some of the nation's railroads.

Undersecretary James M. Beggs also testified "the likelihood is that the whole rail transportation system in this country would suffer very severely" and the ability of other railroads to obtain needed financing could be severely impaired.

Beggs gave this testimony to a House Appropriations subcommittee June 11, when the administration was planning a Defense Department guarantee of some $200 million bank loans to Penn Central.

The guarantee plan was dropped June 19 in the face of strong congressional opposition. The railroad then went ahead with the reorganization against which Beggs had warned.

The transcript of his testimony was made public today.

"If you throw the railroad into reorganization, the likelihood is that there is no way... of reorganizing this railroad and bringing it back to financial health," Beggs said.

"The longer it stays in a reorganization, I think the more the likelihood that some form of government aid, some government subsidy and eventually perhaps nationalization, would be the result."

He said he thought the railroad could be brought back to health with good management if it could obtain needed loans.

He also said management would lose its effectiveness during the period of reorganization.

Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board commented Sunday that he was not only opposed to nationalization of railroads but viewed some of the present government controls as "simply stupid."

Meanwhile Sunday, a New York auditor said that a Fortune magazine article critical of the Penn Central Co.'s accounting practices was "shockingly in error."

"The references to accounting practices and to Peat, Marwick, Mitchell Co. are utterly wrong..." said Walter E. Hanson, senior partner of the firm.

The Fortune article, in the August issue distributed Sunday, said that "unique" bookkeeping enabled Penn Central to disguise the true state of its affairs before the railroad filed for reorganization under bankruptcy laws.

Domestic Workers Protected By Social Security

"Don't forget your domestic worker," urged Harry B. Bieber, Manager of the Social Security Office in Chillicothe. "She too needs social security protection against such things as disability, death or retirement."

In the last few years, the law has been liberalized. In the area of disability, for example, it's now possible for a younger person to get disability with as little as one and one-half years of work under social security. It would be unfair to deprive a domestic worker of this protection."

"By domestic worker," Mr. Bieber continued, "we mean maids, cooks, gardeners, handymen, etc. who perform work in or about a private home. If an employer pays the worker more than $50 cash wages in a calendar quarter, then he or she must deduct a certain amount from wages for social security tax and must pay a like amount. This year the rate is 4.8 per cent of total wages. This percentage must be paid by both the employer and the employee, making a total of 9.6 per cent to be remitted by the employer for social security tax."

Mr. Bieber added, "There are special forms for reporting. We have a pamphlet, SSI-21, entitled 'Social Security and Your Household Employee' which explains all about these forms and how you report these earnings for social security. If anyone wishes to have this pamphlet, or has any questions about this, or any other phase of social security, they should contact the nearest social security office."

The office serving this area is located at 606 Central Center in Chillicothe, phone 775-4050. The office is open from 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., Monday through Friday, holidays excepted.

Death Claims Michael Kirwan

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Long-time Congressman Michael Joseph Kirwan, an 83-year-old Democrat of Youngstown, Ohio, died early today at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Kirwan had been hospitalized since suffering a broken back at the Washington apartment more than a year ago. Aides said his death, at about 12:45 a.m., was attributable to several complications.

His wife, Alice, was at his side. Kirwan had been a member of the House of Representatives since 1936, and had risen to No. 2 man on the Appropriations Committee. He was chairman of the Public Works Subcommittee.

He also had been chairman of the House Democratic Campaign Committee since 1947, a period in which Republicans managed only once to capture majority control.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Kirwan moved in 1907 to Youngstown where he became a mercantile businessman and, from 1932-36, a member of the City Council.

He was a veteran of World War I, having served as a sergeant in a machine gun company.

He had three children, John, Michael and Mary.

Negro Leader Issues Call For 'Segregation'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland black nationalist leader, Harlel Jones, says blacks should segregate themselves from whites and that blacks don't want the "Black Panthers to tell us how to run our revolution."

Jones, who also calls himself Harlel X, told some 300 blacks at a day-long memorial program for black nationalists killed in the 1968 Glenville area shootout between police and blacks that they should "stay away from whites."

"If you're black, you don't need whites," Jones said.

Bonn, Moscow Open Talks On Nonaggression

MOSCOW (AP) — The West German and Soviet foreign ministers began talks in Moscow today to complete a nonaggression pact the Bonn government hopes will open the way to better relations with Eastern Europe.

West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are trying to conclude an agreement in which West Germany and the Soviet Union renounce the use of force against each other and West Germany accepts the postwar loss of German territory to Poland and the Soviet Union. But in an attempt to appease the political opposition at home, Scheel brought along amendments he wants to attach to the treaty emphasizing Bonn's aims of German reunification and improved access to West Berlin.

Scheel arrived Sunday from Bonn and called on Gromyko at his office this morning. A West German source said Scheel planned to present his amendments at this first meeting but that Gromyko was not expected to respond until a later session.

The meeting lasted just over an hour. Scheel told newsmen the meeting had been "good" and its atmosphere "cooperative, very cooperative."

He and Gromyko scheduled another meeting in the afternoon.

Socialist Chancellor Willy Brandt's conservative opposition, the Christian Democrats, have been charging that the proposed treaty's recognition of Germany's postwar eastern borders gives the government's chief bargaining point without getting enough in return. But an article Sunday in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, indicated a chilly reception for the amendments. Scheel worked up to counter the Christian Democratic argument.

Shame, Shame!

THIBODAUX, La. (AP) — This small community prides itself on its warmth and ready friendship to strangers, but two Gibson, La., men took things a bit too far.

Police arrested Richard Tucker and Aubrey Dupre and accused them of stealing the welcome mat from the police station.

Murder Suspect Arrested In Fairfield County

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A first-degree murder suspect arrested by Fairfield County sheriff's deputies Saturday has been returned to Cleveland and placed in the Cuyahoga County Jail.

Charles W. Wolfe, 31, of Cleveland, was returned to the city Sunday from Lancaster.

Wolfe and three other persons were indicted here for the March 16 slaying of Charles L. Oates, 35, of Cleveland. Oates had been beaten with an iron bar and shot, authorities said.

Oates' wife, Oma, 49, was among those indicted. All are in Cuyahoga County Jail awaiting trial.

Police said Mrs. Oates had her husband beaten because she believed he had been dating other women.

POLITICS WILL OUT — Kathy Huppe (above) resigned her "Miss Montana" title for the "Miss America" beauty pageant because she would not go along with the contest policy of steering clear of politics. Kathy, 18, of Helena, is an outspoken anti-war adherent.

Metal Workers End Long Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sheet Metal Workers Local 65 has voted to accept a new contract and return to work, ending a three-month strike.

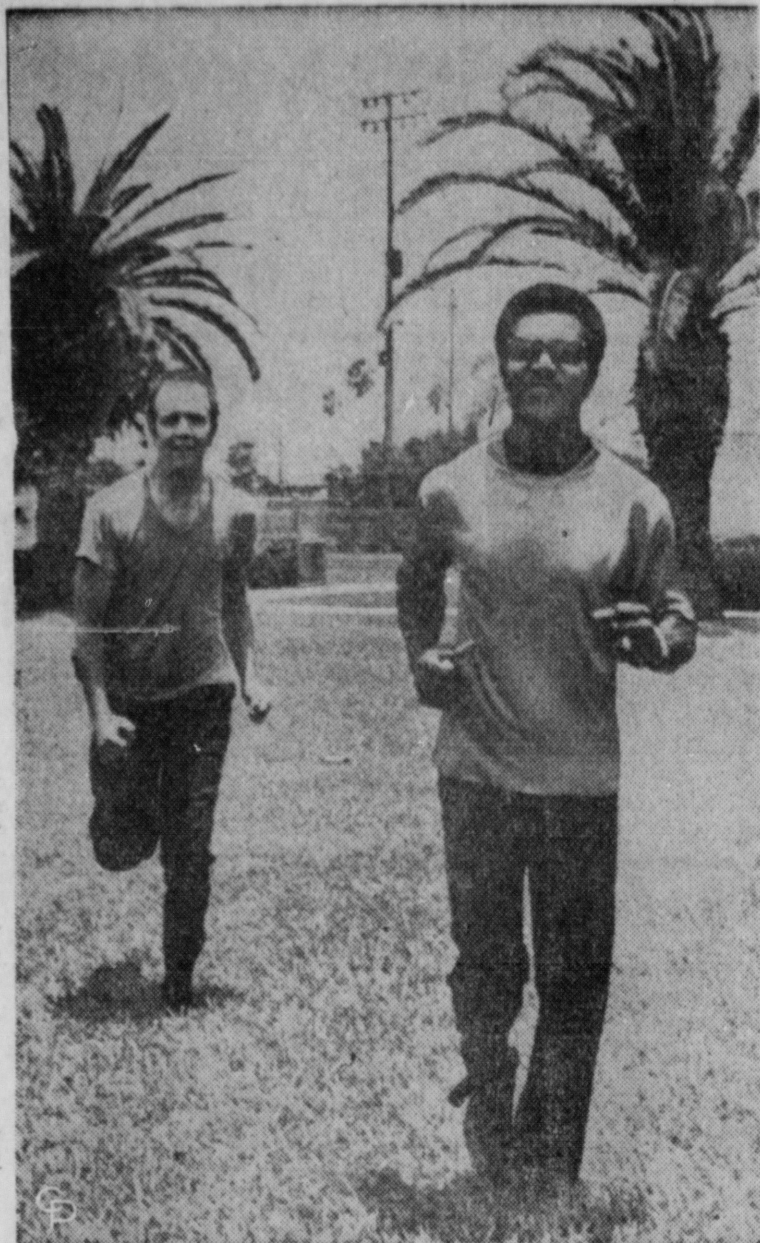

The local is the first of three striking building trades unions in Cleveland to reach a contract agreement. Contracts for the Sheet Metal Workers Union, Plumbers Local 55 and Pipefitters Local 120 expired April 30.

Strikes by the three unions have halted an estimated $900 million in Cleveland area construction.

Lonely? Alaska Trapper, 85, Enjoys Things As They Are

By EDDIE ADAMS

LAKE MINCHUMINA, Alaska (AP) — After the Indians, they were the first of the first—the trappers.

The wilderness was their home, its game their quarry. For a dwindling few it still is.

Hjalmar "Slim" Carlson is 85 now. And still trapping. He is a portrait almost frozen in time ... dog team and sled ... a one-room log cabin with a bed, battered sofa, a tree trunk for a chair and a crude wooden table ... above his homestead, the towering mass of Mt. McKinley. "An awful lot of people on the outside no doubt would think I'm a lonely man. You can tell them I wouldn't trade my life with any of them. How can I get lonely with so much to do? And I have my dogs."

"Television? You can have it. I wouldn't accept one as a gift. I prefer reading. Anyway, I don't have electricity."

His one contact with the outside is a battery-powered short-wave radio on a shelf near his bed.

"The whole world has gone crazy," says Carlson. "We don't have riots out here. Just mosquitoes." His nearest neighbor is 15 miles away. But distance is nothing in the wilderness. Carlson's trappings are 50 miles from his cabin.

He generally walks it nowadays. At his age, his dogs sometimes are a little hard to handle. But he remains hardy on a diet of caribou, vegetables from his garden and fish from his lake.

Besides his radio, Carlson keeps contact with the world by subscribing to a book club and a variety of magazines—including Field and Stream. But he knows the hard demands on a man completely on his own.

"Once my big toe froze, so I cut it off. Another time I chopped off my left thumb—accidentally. I tried to sew it back on, unsuccessfully. Its either operate on yourself or die."

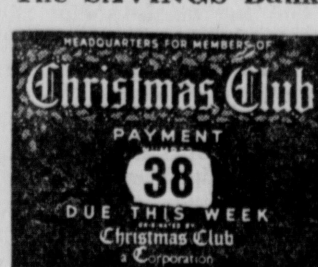

Imitation fur is more of a concern right now to the old trapper than his rugged life. Sable pelts now bring only $15 or $20. In 1948 they were worth $72 each.

But his knowledge is more fundamental than the market place. He knows that wolves don't attack dogs or human beings, that "you can get five gallons of good grease from a black bear. Good for baking and frying doughnuts."

Carlson sleeps when he likes, reads when he likes, gets up when he likes. "And I always have my dogs to talk to. When they start answering back, I know I'll be in trouble."

The Mississippi River daily carries more than 2 million tons of sediment into the Gulf of Mexico, enough to load 40,000 freight cars.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Get Youngster Out Of Your Heart!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 34-year-old married woman and here is my problem. I am in love with a kid who comes into my husband's service station. He is 16. I told my husband I was in love with this kid, and my husband says I should forget it as it would never work out. I've asked a few friends and they agree with my husband. A couple of people have said I am out of my mind.

My husband says it's because he's a motherless boy, and I never had any children of my own and what I feel for him is really "mother love," but you'd better believe it does not resemble anything near that. This kid has been real sweet to me at times, but other times he will tell me he likes this young girl and that young girl which about tears me apart. I send him love letters and call him on the phone a lot, which he has asked me to cut out, but I can't stop. I don't suppose it could ever work out, but how can I get this kid out of my heart?

LOVESICK IN PA. DEAR ABBY: You can get the kid out of your heart by getting him out of your mind. Don't write to him anymore, and don't call him. If you have too much time on your hands, get interested in a hobby, but don't sit around doing nothing or your thoughts will wander back to the boy and you'll be tempted to pursue him.

DEAR ABBY: A guy who works with us has given up cigarettes. Not SMOKING them—just BUYING them. He has bummed at least one cigarette a day from each of the six guys who work with him, and of course since he never carries any of his own, there is no chance of getting one back.

We can't say we don't have any when he asks, because he knows we do, but please tell us how to cure him of this chintzy trick?

GARY AND FRANK DEAR G AND F: Next time he asks for a cigarette, offer to SELL him a pack.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is a dentist, has been married for 7 years. My problem is, his wife never does any ironing. Everything she buys is "permanent press," and after she washes it, she assumes it is ironed. Pillow cases, shirts, tablecloths and handkerchiefs all go unironed and believe me they look it.

I am embarrassed for any professional man who must carry a crumpled handkerchief. But a dentist who must display it before his patients—well, this is too much! Abby, how can I tell her what an impression her husband is making?

"D. PRESSED" DEAR "D. PRESSED:" If your son is embarrassed to carry a crumpled handkerchief, it's up to him to tell his wife to get on the stick and do some ironing.

DEAR ABBY: I certainly didn't notice the name of Rev. Whipple's church mentioned in your column, or he would have received 151 letters instead of 150. When the good Reverend expounded the "tragedy" of the non-virgin bride who was criticized for wearing white, I saw red! White for a bride is traditional, and if she isn't a virgin, then she has already broken the tradition, so who cares what she wears?

I've never seen so much fuss made about nothing by two intelligent people who are in a position to do so much good. When one looks around at the dreadful misery and human suffering all over the world today, if all you and Reverend Whipple have to worry about is whether or not a bride should wear white, I think it's time for both of you to look for an absorbing hobby.

You won't print this, I know. And if you do, I won't see it, because I'm off you for life. Phooey on such trifles! DISGUSTED IN LINDSAY, ONT.

Drug Addicts Present Dangerous Problem

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The day is coming when operation of autos under the influence of narcotics will be a problem similar to drunken driving, says a traffic court judge.

Judge Kyle T. Hubbard says blood tests soon will be required to ascertain whether a driver has taken drugs. He says the current practice of testing only the breath of a suspect is ineffective because it doesn't detect the presence of narcotics.

"To be honest with you, alcohol is right in there with the other drugs as a problem," the judge said. He called driving under the influence of alcohol "the main contact I have with drug abuse."

Tony Perez learned that only one day on the bench can cost him his lead in homers and runs batted in—if Johnny Bench is playing.

The Atlanta Braves, on the other hand, found out that Orlando Cepeda on the bench for just one at bat can cost them a ball game—even if Hank Aaron is hitting.

With Perez resting for the day with his 30 homers and 94 RBIs, Bench slammed three homers and a single and drove in seven runs in Cincinnati's 12-5 rout over St. Louis Sunday, giving Bench the National League lead in both categories with 33 and 95.

Cepeda, given an extra game, did still more for Atlanta. He ripped three homers and a single and drove in six runs in an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opener of their doubleheader.

He had two singles and a double in the nightcap, but was taken out for a pinch-runner in the eighth inning.

He watched on the sidelines in the ninth inning when Tommie Aaron, his replacement, came to bat with two on and two out, and Hank Aaron came in to pinch hit and hit into a force out. The Braves lost 7-6.

Bench and Cepeda led a day of home-run hitting and run-scoring as Houston edged Pittsburgh 6-4 in 10 innings, San Diego mauled Philadelphia 16-2, Los Angeles stopped the New York Mets 5-3 and San Francisco topped Montreal 6-2.

The Cubs took the homer play in the nightcap as Billy Williams and Jim Hickman, who had one in the opener, each connected, while Hal King hit Atlanta's only homer.

Jimmy Wynn's two-run homer off Dace Gustin, 8-2, in the 10th inning put Houston over Pittsburgh and kept the Pirates' Eastern Division lead at 1 1/2 games over the Mets.

The game was delayed 74 minutes with none out in the bottom of the 10th before Fred Gladding got the final out with runners on second and third.

Cesar Cedeño gave Houston an early 3-1 lead with a two-run homer, but the Pirates caught up in the seventh on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly.

Al Ferrara hit two homers and Nate Colbert and Steve Hunt had one each in San Diego's 16th-inning attack that ended Philadelphia's four-game winning streak.

Wayne Garrett hit two homers for all of the Mets' runs. Tom Haller hit a solo shot for the Dodgers and Ted Sizemore hit a sacrifice fly and tripled and scored on Bill Russell's sacrifice fly. Russell also threw out the potential tying run at the plate in the eighth inning.

Juan Marichal scattered nine hits for San Francisco and won only his fourth game of the season against nine losses. Willie Mays and Willie McCovey gave him plenty of batting help, each driving in two runs, Mays with two of his three singles and McCovey with a double and a triple.

Defense, Pitching Credited For Indian Sweep

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Kansas City Royals Sunday and KC Manager Bob Lemon, former Cleveland pitching ace, credited the Indians' defense for the first victory and their pitching for the second one.

"What can any club do when the other one makes five double plays?" he asked after the first game in which the Indians' doubleplay action tied a major league record. "That represents 10 outs—and that's what happened to us."

Cleveland won the first game, 6-5.

And after Steve Hargan pitched Cleveland to a five-hit, 3-0 shutout in the nightcap, Lemon said: "Hargan looks better than he ever did and that kid (Steve) Dunning (who pitched the first game) can really fire. The Indians will have another great pitching staff and it isn't far away."

The Indians carried the series 3-2.

It took Roy Foster's three-run homer to pull the first game out of the fire and raise Dunning's record to 3-5.

The Royals took a fourth-inning lead of 2-0 on Bob Oliver's single. The Indians tied it with runs in the fourth—Chuck Hinton's third homer—and again in the fifth.

Arnie, Jack Win $40,000 In Four-Ball

By D. BYRON YAKEK

Associated Press Sports Writer
LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — It was Palmer country and they were Arnie's Army. But Jack Nicklaus earned his share of glory, too.

Golf's most famous duo, playing together instead of against each other, shot a final-round 67 Sunday in the National Four-Ball Championship for a three-stroke victory over three other teams. They finished with a 259 total.

"There's never been a member-guest tournament that has had this much attention," the blond Nicklaus said.

"I'll invite him back every year," said Palmer.

Their 25 under par gave them the $40,000 first prize, $20,000 each. It also gave Palmer his first victory of the year—on his home course.

Three strokes back, at 262, were Bruce Crampton and Orville Moody, the tournament's oldest pair, 58-year-old Sam Snead and 42-year-old Gardner Dickinson, and the 1968 champions, George Archer and Bobby Nichols, who shot a fine 63 on the final round.

Each player in the second spot won $8,166.67.

Crampton and Moody were tied with Palmer and Nicklaus until the 12th hole when Arnie put it close to the pin and Jack hit a nine iron about a foot and half away, then got the birdie.

Nicklaus got four of the team's six birdies and hit his second shot exceptionally well. Only his putting kept the final score from being even more decisive on this lush par 71 course in the hills of western Pennsylvania.

Favorites Lose In No. 1 Races

Box Car Payoffs To Lucky Bettors

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Favorite bettors took a bath, to use the race track vernacular, in the big horse races last Saturday.

The post time choices in the Brooklyn Handicap, American Derby, Sorority Stakes, Delaware Oaks and Susquehanna Handicap were beaten, resulting in some box car payoffs to lucky long shot punters.

Virginia Cracker returned the biggest mutuel, $153.20, in beating the favored Office Queen by 1 1/4 lengths in the $60,800 Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park.

Helen Jennings paid $37 in the $58,950 Susquehanna Handicap at Liberty Bell Park where the favored Process Shot, top-weighted at 133 pounds, finished 11th in a 13-horse field. Forward Gal $26 won the $105,110 Sorority at Monmouth Park by two lengths over the favored Unity Hall, previously unbeaten.

Pleasure Seeker, fresh from an impressive victory in the $162,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, went off odds-on in the $107,400 Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct, but he was beaten by a head by Dewan, the $8.20 second choice.

Corn Off The Cob, the favorite in the $110,300 American Derby at Arlington Park came in last in the field of eight. The Pruner, the $6.20 second choice, scored by three-quarters of a length over Robin's Bug.

TV Commercial, the $6.60 favorite, won the San Diego Handicap at Del Mar, but the choices in the Pelham Handicap at Rockingham, the Graduation Stakes at Detroit, the Brickell Handicap at Tropical Park and the Little Rhody Handicap at Lincoln Downs fell by the way-side.

Foggy Note, $8.40, took the Pelham, Cincy Syd, $15.6, the Brickwell; Be Back, $6.80, the Little Rhody, while the split divisions of the Graduation went to Mr. Gemini, $11.60, and Tribal Line, $6.80.

Oiler's Homers Nip Independents, 11-7

Ronnie Morris and Lester Smith blasted homers to lead Circleville Oil to an 11-7 win over Circleville Independents in Slow Pitch action Sunday.

Terry Anderson came up with three big hits for the Oilers.

Oliver then smashed a three-run homer—his 18th—for a 5-2 lead for Kansas City in the sixth. In the Indians' half of the sixth, Graig Nettles scored on an error and Foster's homer made the score 6-5.

"I just went up there to keep the rally alive," Foster said. "I was looking for a fast ball, but got a slider. I just tried to make contact. I didn't think it would go until I saw the left fielder (Lou Piniella) run out of room and stop at the fence. That's a great feeling."

"I had to do something," Oliver said after driving in all five Kansas City runs. "This is the first good game I've had in a month."

"He's not supposed to hit that pitch," said Dunning of Oliver's homer. The pitch, he said, was "a fast ball, up and in on him."

"It's really tough to be a good pitcher in our park," the rookie continued. "It's so small and anybody can hit one out. Homers are flying out of here like they're going out of style."

Of his shutout, Hargan said: "I had better stuff today than any time I can remember. It was my best game in a long time . . . and my best control, which might have been the key. I didn't get tired until after I had to run the bases (in the seventh after he got his first hit of the season), I could feel my strength going."

Cleveland's runs in the second game came on Nettles' 15th homer in the third; Eddie Leon's eighth homer in the seventh, and Tony Horton's 14th homer in the eighth.

The Indians are idle today. Sam McDowell, 15-4, will open against Minnesota here Tuesday night.

Blue Ribbon Rips Rotary; 2nd Bankers Nip Oilers, 10-9

Blue Ribbon Dairy held on to a one game lead blasting Rotary, 36-0, and Second National Bank edged Circleville Oil, 10-9, to feature action in the Little League Minors Saturday.

Rotary, playing with seven men, was completely overpowered by the boys from the Dairy who rapped Rotary for 16 hits.

Ronnie Hill was the winning hurler for the Dairymen and aided his own cause with two triples and a pair of singles. Ricky Allen added three hits including two triples, Brad Rose had a three bagger and Mark Ryan and Butch McFarland contributed doubles to the Blue Ribbon attack.

McCoy had the only safety for the Rotary nine.

SECOND National Bank was held to three hits but took advantage of 15 walks from the Oiler hurlers to eke out the win in a real thriller.

Keith Harding tripled in the seventh inning and then scored the winning run for the Bankers.

Mike Mahoney gained the victory as he went six innings giving up 11 hits, four bases on balls and fanning 10. Todd Mancini pitched the final inning and struckout three hitters.

Mark Linton and Toren Bensonhaver struckout 17 of the Bankers in the losing effort.

Harding tripled, Mahoney doubled and Roy Huffer singled to account for the Second National safeties.

Scott Willoughby carried the heavy lumber for the Oilers rapping a two-run homer and a single. Bensonhaver added three hits and L. Rooney, Mike Hamilton, Linton, Mike Morgan, Greg Grebel and Jim Garrett each added a hit for the losers.

Hawks Defeat Coca Cola, 6-3

The Herald Hawks had a big third inning and went on to beat Coca Cola, 6-3, in a Little League Major clash Saturday.

Coke scored three runs in the first two innings but a four run outburst in the third and a two run follow up in the fifth enabled the Hawks to take the fray.

Tom England and Bryan Edgington shared mound duties for the Hawks. They issued 11 free passes and struckout nine in the winning effort.

Doug McGlone handled the hill for the Cokes walking two and fanning nine.

ENGLAND had two doubles and a single to pace the Hawks, Edgington added two safeties, and Jerry Large, Mike Malone, George Wagner and Keith Sanders each contributed a hit for the Herald boys.

Biff Bumgarner and McGlone cracked two baggers for the Coke nine. Roger Hill had two safeties and Doug Winks and Gary Combs had a hit apiece.

Orioles Slam Twins, 11-1 To Maintain AL East Lead

It upsets Boog Powell to strike out with the bases loaded. So Minnesota pitchers Jim Perry and Dick Woodson, much to their chagrin, helped make the big Baltimore first baseman happy in a big way.

"I probably ought to come through more than I do, but the only thing I really hate to do with the bases loaded is strike out," Powell said Sunday after leading the Orioles' 11-1 trouncing of the Minnesota Twins.

The game was scoreless when Powell came to bat against Hall with the bases loaded in the fourth. He singled in two runs.

Baltimore led 5-1 when Powell came up against Woodson in the eighth. He crashed his 28th homer to boost his RBI total to 86.

Baltimore, first in the American League East, added two runs in the ninth in completing the rout of the West-leading Twins. Dave McNally upped his record to 13-7 with his first victory since June 30. Perry suffered his eighth loss in the bid for his 16th victory.

California edged Washington 11-10 in 11 innings with President Nixon as a spectator in Anaheim Stadium, Boston blasted Milwaukee 12-5, Cleveland swept Kansas City 6-5 and 3-0, Oakland nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox blanked Detroit 4-0.

Fifteen pitchers, eight by California, paraded to the mound in the Angels' victory over Washington, which came when Bill Cowan singled and scored on Jarvis Tatum's two-out double.

Chico Ruiz had scored on a forceout to give California a 10-10 tie in the ninth after Washington had taken a 10-9 lead in the top of the inning to a two-run single by Frank Howard and a one-run single by Angelito Rodriguez.

Ken McMullen, Roger Repoz and Sandy Alomar homered for California. Howard hit his 28th homer in the sixth. It was followed by Mike Epstein's second of the game and 13th of the year.

Boston rode over Milwaukee as Tony Conigliaro belted a pair of two-run homers. Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run shot, his 27th, and George Thomas belted a solo shot. Tommy Harper and Jerry McNertney homered for the Brewers who had a three-game losing streak snapped.

Rookie Roy Foster's three-run homer sparked Cleveland's 6-5 first-game victory over Kansas City, despite a two-run homer and two-run single by the Royals Bob Oliver. Chuck Hinton also homered for Cleveland.

In the Indians second-game victory, Steve Hargan pitched a five-hitter and Graig Nettles, Eddie Leon and Tony Horton homered.

The A's beat the Yankees for their sixth straight victory when Dick Green drove in the winning run with an infield hit in the sixth. Dave Duncan homered for Oakland while Jerry Kenney and Ron Hansen connected for the Yankees.

The White Sox victory over Detroit was the fourth straight—and third complete game—that stretch—for Tommy John, 9-12, who pitched a seven-hitter. Carlos May singled home a run in the sixth after a two base error by Dick McAuliffe and a bunt for the only run John needed.

Los Angeles Kings Sign Four Players
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League announced contract signings of four players Sunday, including center Bob Goring, their top rookie last season.

General Manager Larry Regan said contract agreements also have been reached with right winger Bill Flett and defenseman Matt Ravlich and Gilles Marotte.

Thursdays and Friday will see two rounds of match play on the 6,820-yard, par 35-36-71 course. The semifinals and championship match are set for Saturday.

All participants must be under 18 and have handicaps under nine strokes by the USGA handicap system.

Chico Coleman Wins At Atomic

CHILLICOTHE — A new pair of feature winners — the ninth different of the season in the super-modified division and the seventh in the super-stocks — pounded their names onto the records at Atomic Speedway Saturday night.

Building up for a wide open competition for the mid-season championship next Saturday night, Bob Morgan of Chillicothe kept the super-modified winning list with a single repeat winner and Chico Coleman of Circleville enlarged the list of super-stock winners in an almost-unbelievable finish.

Morgan started eighth and kept widening his margin of victory after slipping into the lead on the eighth lap, but Coleman had to make a comeback at the finish line after setting the pace through the first three-fourths of the race.

In a finish where a blanket would have covered the first four cars with a couple more tossed in for excitement, the leading car dropped to fourth between the last turn and the flagman and then slammed into the retaining wall without damage.

Coming in for the checkered flag, Bob Stanhope of Chillicothe was being contested by Paul Cohan of Jackson and by the time the pack whizzed by the finish line it was Coleman, Cohan, Don Stump of Circleville and then Stanhope.

Morgan was the only repeater on the 10-event program which was run without time trials to condition the track. He took the third heat to sweep his events.

Steve Unger of Cleveland was second in the future and helmet dash and won the first heat.

Charles McCann of Piketon was third in the feature and consi.

Preliminary winners also were Jim Meeker of Chillicothe in the helmet dash, Audie Swart of Wheelersburg in the second heat and Al Nunery of South Point in the consi.

In the super-stocks Cohan was runnerup in the feature and third in the second heat and Stump was third in the feature and second in the second heat.

Jim West and Bob Crace were the heat winners and the consi went to Dick French.

Tri-County, Circleville Stars Split Twinbill Saturday

The Tri-County and Circleville Little League All-Stars split a double header played during the weekend at Ted Lewis Park.

The Tri-County stars won the first game 4-1, behind the one hit pitching of Tim Justus and Jeff Reichelderfer and the Circleville Stars took the nightcap 4-2, with Brent Mancini on the mound.

Reichelderfer and Justus walked only two Roundtowners and set nine down by strikeouts. The only hit they allowed was a single by Sam Webb.

Biff Bumgarner was the losing hurler. He had good control, not walking any batter, fanned nine, but was touched for six hits, including a triple by Steve Rawlins and doubles by Justus and T. French.

RAWLINS was two for three at the plate and scored two runs. R. French had a single in two official trips and also scored two runs.

The Tri-County Stars scored two runs in the second inning, one in the fourth and one in the fifth.

In the nightcap, Mancini limited the Tri-County Stars to three hits, two of them doubles by T. French and M. Frazier. He walked two and fanned five.

R. French and Rawlins were the moundsmen for the losers in the second game. They walked three, fanned 11 and gave up four hits.

Circleville's hits, all singles, were tagged by Bobby Fuller, Gary Combs, Mancini and Billy Mogan.

Barnhill's Bombs PPG In 26-4 Contest

Barnhill's Dry Cleaning and Laundry defeated PPG Industries, 26-4, Saturday in a Mosquito League game played on the South Court diamond.

Brian Sealock and Richard Elsea shared mound duties for the winners while Randy Jenkins was the pitcher for the losers.

Sealock and Elsea teamed up to whiff nine while Jenkins had six strikeouts.

Barnhill's got 24 hits including three doubles and two singles by Brian Sealock; one triple and three singles by Brad Dye; two doubles and three singles by Richard Elsea; one triple, two doubles and two singles by Don Hill; four singles by Gary Ramey and a single by Jeff Myers.

PPG's eight hits included singles by Jim Wolfe, Gary Rush, Clay Reed, Randy Jenkins, Mark Agin, Eric Archer and Randy Roush (2).

Los Angeles Kings Sign Four Players

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League announced contract signings of four players Sunday, including center Bob Goring, their top rookie last season.

General Manager Larry Regan said contract agreements also have been reached with right winger Bill Flett and defenseman Matt Ravlich and Gilles Marotte.

Defense, Pitching Credited For Indian Sweep

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Kansas City Royals Sunday and KC Manager Bob Lemon, former Cleveland pitching ace, credited the Indians' defense and their pitching for the second one.

"What can any club do when the other one makes five double plays?" he asked after the first game in which the Indians' double-play action tied a major league record. "That represents 10 outs—and that's what happened to us."

Cleveland won the first game, 6-5.

And after Steve Hargan pitched Cleveland to a five-hit, 3-0 shutout in the nightcap, Lemon said: "Hargan looks better than he ever did and that kid (Steve) Dunning (who pitched the first game) can really fire. The Indians will have another great pitching staff and it isn't far away."

The Indians carried the series 3-2.

It took Roy Foster's three run homer to put the first game out of the fire and raise Dunning's record to 3-5.

The Royals took a fourth-inning lead of 2-0 on Bob Oliver's single. The Indians tied it with runs in the fourth—Chuck Hinton's third homer—and again in the fifth.

Arnie, Jack Win $40,000 In Four-Ball

By D. BYRON YAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — It was Palmer country and they were Arnie's army. But Jack Nicklaus earned his share of glory, too.

Golf's most famous duo, playing together instead of against each other, shot a final-round 67 Sunday in the National Four-Ball Championship for a three-strake victory over three other teams. They finished with a 259 total.

"There's never been a member's tournament that has had this much attention," the blond Nicklaus said.

"I'll invite him back every year," said Palmer.

Their 25 under par gave them the $40,000 first prize, $20,000 each. It also gave Palmer his first victory of the year—on his home course.

Three strokes back, at 262, were Bruce Crampton and Orville Moody, the tournament's oldest pair, 58-year-old Sam Snead and 42-year-old Gardner Dickinson, and the 1968 champions, George Archer and Bob Nichols, who shot a fine 63 on the final round.

Each player in the second spot won $8,166.67.

Crampton and Moody were tied with Palmer and Nicklaus until the 12th hole when Arnie put it close to the pin and Jack hit a nine iron about a foot and half away, then got the birdie.

Nicklaus got four of the team's six birdies and hit his second shot exceptionally well. Only his putting kept the final score from being even more decisive on this lush par 71 course in the hills of western Pennsylvania.

Favorites Lose In No. 1 Races

Box Car Payoffs To Lucky Bettors

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Favorite bettors took a bath, to use the race track vernacular, in the big horse races last Saturday.

The post time choices in the Brooklyn Handicap, American Derby, Oaks Stakes, Delaware Oaks and Susquehanna Handicap were beaten, resulting in some box car payoffs to lucky long shot punters.

Virginia Cracker returned the biggest mutuel, $153.20, in beating the favored Office Queen by 1 1/4 lengths in the $60,800 Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park.

Helen Jennings paid $37 in the $58,950 Susquehanna Handicap at Liberty Bell Park where the favored Process Shot, top-weighted at 133 pounds, finished 11th in a 13-horse field. Forward Gal $26 won the $105,110 Sorcery at Monmouth Park by two lengths over the favored Unity Hall, previously unbeaten.

Pleasure Seeker, fresh from an impressive victory in the $162,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, went off odds-on in the $107,400 Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct, but he was beaten by a head by Dewan, the $8.20 second choice.

Corn Off The Cob, the favorite in the $110,300 American Derby at Arlington Park came in last in the field of eight. The Pruner, the $6.20 second choice, scored by three-quarters of a length over Robin's Bug.

TV Commercial, the $6.60 favorite, won the San Diego Handicap at Del Mar, but the choices in the Delham Handicap at Rockingham, the Graduation Handicap at Detroit, the Brickell Handicap at Tropical Park and the Little Rhody Handicap at Lincoln Downs fell by the wayside.

Foggy Note, $8.40, took the Pelham, $4.40, $15.60, the Brickwell, $6.80, the Little Rhody, while the split divisions of the Graduation went to Mr. Gemini, $11.60, and Tribal Line, $6.80.

Oiler's Homers Nip Independents, 11-7

Ronnie Morris and Lester Smith blasted homers to lead Circleville Oil to an 11-7 win over Circleville Independents in Slow Pitch action Sunday.

Terry Anderson came up with three big hits for the Oilers.

Oliver then smashed a three-run homer—his 18th—for a 5-2 lead for Kansas City in the sixth. In the Indians' half of the sixth, Graig Nettles scored on an error and Foster's homer made the score 6-5.

"I just went up there to keep the rally alive," Foster said. "I was looking for a fast ball, but got a slider. I just tried to make contact. I didn't think it would go until I saw the left fielder (Lou Piniella) run out of room and stop at the fence. That's a great feeling."

"I had to do something," Oliver said after driving in all five Kansas City runs. "This is the first good game I've had in a month."

"He's not supposed to hit that pitch," said Dunning of Oliver's homer. The pitch, he said, was "a fast ball, up and in on him."

"It's really tough to be a good pitcher in our park," the rookie continued. "It's so small and anybody can hit one out. Homers are flying out of here like they're going out of style."

Of his shutout, Hargan said: "I had better stuff today than any time I can remember. It was my best game in a long time . . . and my best control, which might have been the key."

"I didn't get tired until after I had to run the bases (in the seventh after he got his first hit of the season). I could feel my strength going."

Cleveland's runs in the second game came on Nettles' 15th homer in the third; Eddie Leon's eighth homer in the seventh, and Tony Horton's 14th homer in the eighth.

The Indians are idle today. Sam McDowell, 15-4, will open against Minnesota here Tuesday night.

McCoy had the only safety for the Rotary nine.

Blue Ribbon Dairy held on to a one game lead blasting Rotary, 36-0, and Second National Bank edged Circleville Oil, 10-9, to feature action in the Little League Minors Saturday.

Rotary, playing with seven men, was completely overpowered by the boys from the Dairy who rapped Rotary for 16 hits.

Ronnie Hill was the winning hurler for the Dairymen and aided his own cause with two triples and a pair of singles. Ricky Allen added three hits including two triples, Brad Rose had a three bagger and Mark Ryan and Butch McFarland contributed doubles to the Blue Ribbon attack.

McCoy had the only safety for the Rotary nine.

SECOND National Bank was held to three hits but took advantage of 15 walks from the Oiler hurlers to eke out the win in a real thriller.

Keith Harding tripled in the seventh inning and then scored the winning run for the Bankers.

Mike Mahoney gained the victory as he went six innings giving up 11 hits, four bases on balls and fanning 10. Todd Mancini pitched the final inning and struck out three hitters.

Mark Laver and Toren Benson hanted struckout 17 of the Bankers in the top half.

Harding tripled, Mahoney doubled and Roy Huffer singled to account for the Second National safeties.

Scott Willoughby carried the heavy lumber for the Oilers rapping a two-run homer and a single. Bensonhaver added three hits and L. Rooney, Mike Hamilton, Linton, Mike Morgan, Greg Grebel and Jim Garrett each added a hit for the losers.

Hawks Defeat Coca Cola, 6-3

The Herald Hawks had a big third inning and went on to beat Coca Cola, 6-3, in a Little League Major clash Saturday.

Coke scored three runs in the first two innings but a four run outburst in the third and a two run follow up in the fifth enabled the Hawks to take the fray.

Tom England and Bryan Edgington shared mound duties for the Hawks. They issued 11 free passes and struck out nine in the winning effort.

Doug McGlone handled the hill for the Cokes walking two and fanning nine.

ENGLAND had two doubles and a single to pace the Hawks. Edgington added two safeties, and Jerry Large, Mike Malone, George Wagner and Keith Sanders each contributed a hit for the Herald boys.

Biff Bumgarner and McGlone cracked two baggers for the Coke nine. Roger Hill had two safeties and Doug Winks and Gary Combs had a hit apiece.

The Circleville Herald, Mon. July 27, 1970

Circleville, Ohio

Air Crash Rubble Annoys Ohio Farmer

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—More than three years ago a TWA jet airliner collided over Champaign County with a private airplane and sent 26 persons to their death. The crash was about nine miles north of here.

Today, a small lake has been built on the land where the planes crashed but its owner, Milburn L. Baumgardner, still hasn't found a way to get his property cleaned up.

Although officials said the area was cleaned, Baumgardner said a large amount of metal debris still remains on his property, mostly swept into small piles that dot the landscape and make it difficult to mow the grass.

Once, while walking across the land, he stumbled over the bones of two right human legs, apparently overlooked when the cleanup began shortly after the crash on March 9, 1967.

Baumgardner says he has experienced difficulty getting officials out to his land to clean up what is left of the wreckage. He was not even successful after the bones were found.

While he did not live there when the crash occurred he did own the land and received a $1-500 settlement for damages from TWA.

He said his attorney's fees cost him $500 of that, and his lake cost another $1,300. Now, he said, he just wants to be left alone. He's not complaining, he said, and is content with the airline settlement. But he said he would like to see the rest of the debris cleaned up so he can enjoy his lake and his home.

did Iraq, which has troops stationed in Jordan.
Jordan's conditional acceptance followed a day-long meeting Sunday of Prime Minister Abdel Moneim Rifai's cabinet and an announcement by the guerrillas Saturday night that they will fight on for "complete liberation of Palestine."

Rifai announced the decision was "unanimous, positive and consistent with the reply of the United Arab Republic (Egypt)."

Informed sources said the reply to Washington would contain some reservations, the chief of which would say the Amman government could not be responsible for actions by the Palestinian commandos. Since they are responsible for most of the attacks from Jordan on Israel, this promised no appreciable reduction in the level of fighting along the Israeli-Jordanian frontier.

Syria's rejection of the American peace initiative came as no surprise, because Syria never has accepted the 1967 United Nations Security Council resolution on the Middle East. Damascus radio said Sunday this refusal remains "absolute," precluding acceptance of any political solution based on it.

Iraq called on all members of the Arab League to join in rejection of the U.S. plan.

On the battle fronts, the Israeli military command reported the first incidents along the Golan Heights frontier with Syria in a month but said there were no casualties. The Israelis said a civilian car was hit by a bazooka rocket, there was intermittent mortar fire all night at the northern end of the heights, and an Israeli patrol repelled a squad of Arab infiltrators who left behind six bazooka rockets.

The Israelis also reported an exchange of fire across the northern Jordanian frontier and another across the southern frontier 29 miles north of Eilat. Again there were no Israeli casualties.

war" near the Ohio State University campus.

A crowd of 350 young persons broke up when police began lobbing baton-like canisters which burst when they hit the street into inch-wide discs.

Fifteen persons were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, intoxication, obstructing sidewalks and vagrancy.

One youth was injured when he resisted arrest, police said. A leaflet had announced the gathering as a protest of "police harassment" and general repression.

In Cambridge, Mass., police dispersed about 250 young people said to be setting fires near Harvard Square Sunday as they marked the 17th anniversary of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolutionary movement.

Five persons were arrested. There were no reported injuries. In West Chester, Pa., angry Puerto Rican residents clashed with police Saturday and Sunday nights, throwing rocks and bottles.

Helmeted state police aided borough police and those of neighboring towns.

Local police refused to say whether any persons were arrested. Some police reportedly suffered cuts from broken glass, but there were no serious injuries.

Violence began Saturday when nearly 300 persons converged on a tavern after hearing a rumor that Ramon Torres, 44, had died of injuries received Friday in a fight with a bartender. Torres was in critical condition Sunday.

In Lawrence, Kan., the Board of Regents ordered the immediate dismissal of Gary D. Jackson as a part-time assistant to the dean of men at the University of Kansas after learning that Jackson had helped buy 27 boxes of ammunition the day after Rick Dowdell, 19, was shot to death by a Lawrence policeman.

The shooting of the black Lawrence youth led to five days of disturbances at the University and in Lawrence, ending with the fatal shooting of Harsy Rice, a white youth, in a clash between police and about 150 young persons.

Curfews were lifted in Peoria, Ill., and New Brunswick, N.J., scenes of recent racial disturbances.

Bombers Clobber Viet Reds; New Buildup Hinted

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese positions at eight points along South Vietnam's border with Cambodia and Laos today amid reports of new enemy buildups.

The raids were the heaviest by the giant eight-jet bombers in two weeks, stretching from the southern Mekong delta to the demilitarized zone at the northern end of the country.

Eight waves of the Stratofortresses dropped 1,200 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese bunkers, base camps, weapons positions, staging areas and supply depots. Other B52s and smaller fighter-bombers pounded enemy supply routes from Laos and Cambodia.

The U.S. Command ordered the strikes after intelligence reports that some North Vietnamese troops were moving back into border areas from which they withdrew when American and South Vietnamese forces struck at the enemy's Cambodian sanctuaries in May and June.

A task force of 2,500 South Vietnamese troops launched a new operation in southeastern Cambodia Sunday. Reports indicated North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were massing with large munitions stockpiles southeast of the town of Kompong Trabek.

The sweep centered about 50 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, in a region five to ten miles from the Vietnamese border and just to the north of the Plain of Reeds, an enemy infiltration corridor into Saigon and the northern Mekong Delta.

A spokesman said 18,500 South Vietnamese troops now are operating in Cambodia, well below half the peak force of 47,000 in May.

The U.S. Command announced that American military strength in South Vietnam continues to decline as more troops leave the country in the fourth phase of President Nixon's withdrawal program. A communiqué said American troop strength dropped 1,800 last week, to 406,800. This is the lowest total since January 1967.

The U.S. Command said activity in Vietnam involving U.S. forces "continued to be light and scattered."

"No major ground engagements were reported, with the majority of U.S. casualties resulting from minor ground contacts, attacks by fire, and booby traps," a communiqué said. It reported nine Americans killed and five wounded.

In Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops attacked two factories built with Chinese Communist aid, but a spokesman said he had no reports of any major damage at either factory.

More fighting also was reported at Kiri Rom, 50 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, but there were no details.

The Cambodian command also reported that five of the nation's major highways had been cut by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks or roadblocks.

Cuba 'Hurts' Castro Admits

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro says Cuba is beset by economic trouble and needs better leadership from its Communist party. Addressing his island country Sunday night on the 17th anniversary of his revolution, Castro called its problems "the responsibility of all of us, and mine in particular."

He said Cuba could change its leadership if it wanted to—"right now, at the moment it wishes" but apparently saw no likelihood that this would come to pass.

"We have no fear in admitting our responsibility and stating our problems before the people in view of the confidence that we have," the prime minister declared.

Castro spoke at the end of a 12-month sugar harvest which yielded 8½ million tons—a record, but still far short of the goal of 10 million tons.

The prime minister admitted that white manpower was mobilized to harvest cane, there was a lag in production of other items, such as meat, milk, bread, vegetables, tobacco and clothing.

He said Cuba's balance of trade is worsening, especially with the Soviet Union.

"The enemy says we have problems," Castro declared. "In reality, they are right. That there is discontent. And they are right. That there are irritations. And our enemies are right."

Castro also said changes must be made in the structure of Cuba's Communist party.

Castro's broadcast speech commemorated his July 26, 1953, assault on an army barracks of then dictator Fulgencio Batista.

The attack failed, but Castro continued his campaign until he toppled Batista in 1959.

Police Probe Automobile, Tire Thefts

The Circleville Police are investigating a theft of a set of tires from Clifton Auto Parts warehouse on N. Court St. and an auto from the Harold Moats Used Car lot on E. Main St.

Both thefts occurred during the night.

An unidentified informant called police at 12:30 a.m. this morning to report he had seen a car at the Clifton Auto Parts building.

Police investigated and found four 8.25 by 14 white sidewall tires were taken from the warehouse. Nothing else was missing police said.

At 7:30 a.m. today Art Lowery, an employee of Harold Moats, called police to report the office building on the car lot had been entered. The keys of all the cars were in the building and had been taken.

In addition a 1967 black over light green Mustang was taken. It had dealer's registration tags D-10 4560 on it.

The road will be closed from County Road 98 to the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Norfolk and Western overpass where a new culvert is being installed.

Await House Test On Secret Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House may decide today whether to junk its ancient rule permitting members to vote secretly on many major issues.

The test will come on an amendment to abolish the teller vote, the practice of counting members walking between two colleagues. No names are recorded.

A formidable coalition of Republicans and Democrats support the amendment to a 740-page congressional reorganization bill which the House has been considering off and on for two weeks.

The Teller vote is used during consideration of amendments when the House sits as a committee.

Roll-call votes are not allowed at such times unless an amendment is approved. An amendment defeated normally cannot be voted on by later roll-call.

The proposed change would require members to be recorded by name on future teller votes if at least 20 of those present demand it. No longer would a member be able to vote against major amendments and keep his action from the official record.

Another pending amendment backed by a smaller coalition would permit recording of votes and attendance during House sessions by electronic or electrical equipment.

House leaders hope to finally dispose of the reorganization bill Tuesday. It still must clear the Senate before becoming effective, since some of the proposed changes would affect that chamber as well as the House.

An unidentified informant called police at 12:30 a.m. this morning to report he had seen a car at the Clifton Auto Parts building.

Police investigated and found four 8.25 by 14 white sidewall tires were taken from the warehouse. Nothing else was missing police said.

At 7:30 a.m. today Art Lowery, an employee of Harold Moats, called police to report the office building on the car lot had been entered. The keys of all the cars were in the building and had been taken.

In addition a 1967 black over light green Mustang was taken. It had dealer's registration tags D-10 4560 on it.

County Road 28 Closed 3 Days

County Engineer Henry McCrady announced that County Road 28 in Harrison Twp. will be closed today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The road will be closed from County Road 98 to the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Norfolk and Western overpass where a new culvert is being installed.

Await House Test On Secret Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House may decide today whether to junk its ancient rule permitting members to vote secretly on many major issues.

The test will come on an amendment to abolish the teller vote, the practice of counting members walking between two colleagues. No names are recorded.

A formidable coalition of Republicans and Democrats support the amendment to a 140-page congressional reorganization bill which the House has been considering off and on for two weeks.

The Teller vote is used during consideration of amendments when the House sits as a committee.

Roll-call votes are not allowed at such times unless an amendment is approved. An amendment defeated normally cannot be voted on by later roll-call.

The proposed change would require members to be recorded by name on future teller votes if at least 20 of those present demand it. No longer would a member be able to vote against major amendments and keep his action from the official record.

Another pending amendment backed by a smaller coalition would permit recording of votes

and attendance during House sessions by electronic or electrical equipment.

House leaders hope to finally dispose of the reorganization bill Tuesday. It still must clear the Senate before becoming effective, since some of the proposed changes would affect that chamber as well as the House.
